CANOVAS KILLED.

By An Anarchist Who Is a Neapolitan by Birth.

THE MAN IS UNDER ARREST

One of the Bullets Took Fffect in the Forehead, the Other in the Chest of the Statesman Who Was With His Wife.

DIED CRYING "LONG LIVE SPAIN"

MADRID, August 8.—Senor Canovas Del Castillo, prime minister of Spain, was assassinated to-day, at Santa Agueda, by an anarchist. The murderer fired three shots, one of which struck the premier in the forehead, and another in the chest. The wounded man fell dying at the feet of his wife who was with him, lingering in agony for an hour and then passing away with the cry of "Long live Spain!" which were the last words upon his lips.

Santa Agueda is noted for its baths. The place is between San Sebastian, the summer residence of the Spanish court, and Vittoria, the capital of the Province of Alva, about thirty miles south of Bilboa. The premier went there last Thursday to take a three week's course of the baths, after which he expected to return to San Sebastian to meet United States Minister Woodford, when officially received by the queen regent.

The assassin was immediately arrested. He is a Neapolitan and gives the name of Rinaldi, but it is believed that this is an assumed name and that his real name is Michele Angino Golli.

At a special meeting of the cabinet to-day, under the presidency of Senor Cos-Gayon, minister of the interior, the latter announced that he had been intrusted by the queen regent with the premiership ad interim.

WASHINGTON, August 8.—This government probably has already received the formal notification of Premier Canovas's assassination, but if so it is locked up with other dispatches in the state department and will not be known until Secretary Sherman reaches the department to-morrow morning. Immediately the state department, according to its usual custom, will announce the event to the president, and the latter will, in some way, make formal and public expression regarding the government's deep regret. Just in what form the expression will be couched is not known, for precedents differ, but it doubtless will be a dispatch to the Spanish government, simple and sympathetic in its terms.

Secretary of State Sherman received the first news of the affair through the Associated Press bulletin. He expressed deep interest in the details. He said:

"This deplorable event will have some effect, of course, on the political affairs of Spain, but to what extent I cannot say. The death af one man is not necessarily going to change the sentiment of the whole country. Spain is a very tenacious country. Her money is gone, her resources have been exhausted, but she means, evidently, to hold on to Cuba. Just how she can do it, under these circumstances, I cannot see. Yet she is opposed to yielding a point. Premier Canovas was a strong partisan. He was the chief exponent of the element which was determined to keep the island at all hazards. Seemingly Spain is almost a unit on this. Canovas was a strong factor in the government of Spain, but it is not impossible that another will be found to replace him in that important office having similar views and the same pronounced ideas. How it may be in this case I am not able to say, but the effects politically of such an event are not essentially far-reaching and have not always produced radical developments. As to the consequences on the conflict in Cuba I do not care to talk. I have no official information of the assassination and must refrain from venturing guesses as to what it may effect in the future."

Asked how long he thought the Cuban insurrection would last he replied that that was problematic, and that he did not care to discuss it.

BUSY AFTER AID

The Latest News From the Places of Striking Miners.

A WAIL FROM SOME SECTIONS

Mass Meeting at Canonsburg To-Morrow—Some Men Committed to Jail—Warrants Out for Many Others.

SCARCITY OF COAL IS DENIED

PITTSBURG, August 9.—The following was issued by President Patrick Dolan and Secretary Warner to-day.

There will be a mass meeting of all the miners at Canonsburg, Wednesday, August 11, at 9 a. m. All miners of the above named places will call meetings and prepare to go. The meeting will be addressed by the district officials and others. Every miner is requested to attend. The campaign in Westmoreland county will begin at Irwin on Wednesday. At 2 p. m., a monster meeting will be held, at which Eugene V. Debs, Patrick Dolan, M. P. Carrick and others are expected to make addresses. A march is to be made from Turtle Creek.

A number of brass bands will be in the procession. The strikers desire to awaken an interest in that section, as they claim the miners that are working are an injury to their cause.

At the investigation of Thomas E. Sutton, of Willocks, Henry Ulrich, Henry Huser, Emil Nagel and Gustav Rings, miners, were committed to jail for a hearing before Alderman J. B. McMasters, of various charges, to-day. Ulrich is charged with aggravated assault and battery; Nagel with assault and battery and Huoer and Rings with unlawful assemblage. The arrests are the result of an altercation at Willocks, July 26, on account of the strike. Warrants are out for a number of others.

Early this morning the miners of West Elizabeth made a march on the mines of the Elizabeth Mining company, formerly operated by Horner and Roberts. About fifty men were going to work. After a consultation the men asked that they be allowed to finish loading a flat. They agreed to go out as soon as it was loaded, which will take several days. The officials of the company made an effort this afternoon to get permission from the mining officials to continue work on a 69 cent basis. This was not given, and it is expected that the mine will be idle as soon as the flat is loaded.

Thomas B. DeArmitt, superintendent of the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal company, worked hard to-day to get the miners at Oak Hill to return to work. By a house to house canvass he succeeded in getting a few more diggers than has been at work. Thirty-seven miners were in. The men were told by Mr. DeArmitt they would lose all they had earned if they would not work and would be given five days to vacate the company houses.

The strikers say only seventy-five out of 285 were at work in the Plum Creek mine to-day. The company claims almost a full force was working.

The strikers are hopeful that the remaining diggers will quit work after getting their pay. The Plum Creek men were not paid to-day and it is expected the company will require the men to sign a new agreement before they are given their envelopes. The Sandy Creek miners are awaiting developments. They are hopeful the courts will set aside the contracts of the company which the men were obliged to sign.

Hunger is doing more injury to the cause of the miners than any other thing and the efforts of the commissary department is doing everything possible to provide against this contingency.

Some of the coal operators are getting restless and threaten to attempt to start their mines this week. W. H. Simmons, a large coal dealer, says there is no scarcity of coal. Last night 250 cars of coal came into Pittsburg from West Virginia, and large quantities are being shipped to Pittsburg from the mines along the Pennsylvania railroad.

DEATH IN THE WAGON.

Terrible Accident at Lock Haven Friday Morning.

A terrible tragedy occured Friday morning at the Bald Eagle bridge at Castanea, about a mile from Lock Haven, which resulted in the death of a young man, Wallace Flaig by name.

Young Flaig, together with his father, M. Flaig, who is a contractor dealing in flag stones, the driver and a man named Gross, were unloading stone from a car at the Beech Creek station at Castanea. They transferred a large stone.

WEIGHING TWELVE TONS,

from the car to the wagon, which was drawn by three horses, two horses attached to the wagon and one to the tongue. They then started to take the stone to town, and when they reached the Bald Eagle bridge at Castanea they stopped and took off the three horses, and young Flaig took the extra horse off, as it was necessary to go down a steep hill. He led the horse down the hill about one hundred feet and then stopped. The party on the bridge locked the rear wheels of the wagon with two large log chains in order to hold the wagon back, and then started it slowly down the hill, Mr. Flaig, the driver and Gross walking alongside. They had not gone very far when.

THE CHAIN BROKE

and on account of the heavy stone being in the wagon and nothing to hold it back, the wagon started down the hill at a good rate of speed. Young Flaig saw the wagon coming and tried to get himself and horse out of the way, but he was not quick enough and the wagon struck him, knocking him down. One of the front wheels of the wagon.

PASSED OVER HIS HEAD,

crushing it. His father and the other men rushed forward and picked the boy up. He lived for about 5 minutes and then breathed his last. Philip Zindel, a grocer, who happened a long there with his delivery wagon, took the remains to his father's home, 101 South Fairview street, Lock Haven. The unfortunate youth was eighteen years old, and was a popular young man. No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral.—Williamsport Sun.

HARMONY WITH A BIG H

Republicans Meet and Name Their Ticket.

WM. E. GRAY RE-ELECTED CHAIRMAN

Cleaver for County Surveyor and Williams for Jury Commissioner.—Col. Wm. Shortlidge and A. L. Bolger are Delegates to the State Convention.

INSTRUCTED FOR BEACOM & McCAULEY

The Republican county convention met in the Court House Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock. The delegates were slow in coming in. Chairman Wm. E. Gray called the convention to order, when the convention call was read by the secretary, G. Washington Reese. The total number of delegates entitled to seats in the convention is 125. The next thing in order was the calling of the roll of delegates. It was found there were very few absentees.

S. J. Crissman was nominated for permanent chairman but declined the honor. Dr. George F. Harris was then nominated and elected to fill the position. G. E. Chandler, of Philipsburg, and Geo. H. Small, of Rebersburg, were elected secretaries. Geo. W. Reese, of Bellefonte, was chosen reading clerk.

A committee of five on resolutions was then appointed by the chair, as follows: John M. Dale, of Bellefonte; Robert K. Wilson, of Walker; Dr. Theodore F. Christ, of State College; F. N. Wrye, of Half Moon, and D. H. Rote, of Haines.

The next business before the convention was the naming of candidates for County Surveyor. Jesse Cleaver, of Unionville, and Wm. H. Snyder, of Liberty township, were placed in nomination. A ballot was then taken with the following result:

Cleaver 92, Snyder 13. The former was, therefore, declared the nominee for County Surveyor.

The next in order was to name candidates for Jury Commissioner. W. S. Williams, of Huston; J. A. Crider, of Boggs; John Decker, of Gregg; Adam Rishel and Samuel Aley were the gentlemen named. The ballot resulted as follows:

Williams 74, Crider 10, Decker 18, Rishel 2, Aley 3. Mr. Williams having received the majority of the votes cast, was therefore declared the nominee.

Col. Wm. Shortlidge, of Bellefonte and A. L. Bolger, of Philipsburg, were nominated and elected delegates to the State convention which meets in Harrisburg on the 26th.

The final business was the electing of a county chairman for the ensuing year. W. E. Gray who has been chairman for the past year or two has been so successful that there was no one else thought of and he was re-elected by acclamation.

On being called on for a speech he responded in an eloquent manner; thanking the convention for the honor which they conferred upon him and pledging himself to earnest effort for the continued success of the party in Centre county.

The resolutions which were adopted were as follows:

The Republicans of Centre County in convention assembled, again declaring their unfailing devotion to the principles and traditions of the party of Lincoln, of Grant, of Garfield, and of McKinley, do hereby commend the intelligent action of the American people who at the polls in November last so thoroughly repudiated the silver heresy. The signs of the times to day demonstrate that there was never so dangerous a theory submitted to the people; and the relative values of the farmers wheat and the silver-kings' silver to day show, that there never was so dishonest a scheme offered to the intelligent voters of our country.

SECOND. They affirm that there awaits for the people an era of prosperity, only recently inaugurated by the passage of the Dingley Bill After only five months of Republican administration, there to day are presented and assured to the American workingman his wife and children more evidences of subtantial returning prosperity than were ever shown during the whole four years of Democratic misrule under the dogma of free-trade. McKinley and his party have given to this country "An honest dollar and a chance to earn it,"

THIRD. They most heartily commend the broad manly administration of our fellow citizen, Governor D. H. Hasting, the Governor of Pennsylvania. He has been the pioneer in the passage of laws that will be of lasting benefit to the material interests of the state. He has met the ringeters, rounders, jobbers, heelers, and lobbyists, and by his open courageous official treatment of them has once for all time shown that there is no reason why the fair fame of this state should be clouded, or why her treasury should be robbed. His vigilence has saved to the state many thousand of dollars, and at the same time he has seen to it that the deserving charities of the state have received some of her bounty to carry on her good work.

FOURTH. They endorse the course persued by the Hon. W. C. Arnold, our representative in congress, and appreciate the work done by him in procuring pensions for our soldiers, the prompt and courteous attention always given by him to any application made to him for information or assistance by any of his constituents, and his course in reference to the Tariff Bill recently passed.

FIFTH. They hereby pledge the united support of the Republican party to the ticket this day nominated, and to the state ticket to be nominated in the near future.

SIXTH. Resolved that the delegates this day elected to the state convention be and are hereby instructed to support Major L. G. McCauley of Chester County for Auditor General and James A Beacom of Westmorland County for State Treasurer, as long as they or either of them remain in the field.

MEMORIAL SERVICE.

"Lessons from the Life of Hugh McAllister Beaver."

The Y. M. C. A. services, held in the Court House Sunday afternoon, were very interesting and the large building was well filled with people. A choir of about twenty male voices sang very beautifully several selections from Gospel Hymns, which were favorites of the late Hugh Beaver. One of them was the piece given out by him at his last meeting at Northfield.

J. W. Gephart presided over the meeting and called on Rev. Orbison, of Lahore, India, to make the opening prayer. The speaker of the afternoon was Dr. Charles Woods, of Philadelphia, who took for his subject: "Lessons from the Life of Hugh McAllister Beaver." The reverend gentleman made an earnest and eloquent address and drew many bright lessons from the beautiful Christian life of the noble young man. At the close of his talk there were many in the audience, who by rising to their feet, testified to their desire to lead a better life and follow in the footsteps, as near as possible, of this departed brother.

J. W. Gephart made the closing remarks and paid a high tribute to the deceased when he said, "We are gathered here to-day to do honor to Bellefonte's most distinguished citizen."

The Logan Picnic.

Cyrus Brumgard, of Millheim, has been especially engaged to take charge of the ox-roast at Hunters Park, on the date of the big Logan picnic to be held Labor Day, September 4th. He will be assisted by an able corp of assistants. Other sports are being provided for the day and a big time is expected.

"I was completely covered with sores. Every muscle in my body ached. Had been sick for five years. Doctors could do me no good. Most of my time was spent in bed; was a complete wreck. Burdock Blood Bitters have completely cured me in three months." Mrs. Annie Zoepen, Crookstown, Minn.

—Wm. Harkins, of near Millheim, was brought to jail on Sunday morning at three o'clock on the charge of arson.

SEEIN' THINGS.

I ain't afeared uv snakes, or toads, or bugs, or worms, or mice,
An' things 'at girls are skeered uv I think are awful nice!
I'm pretty brave, I guess; an' yet I hate to go to bed.
For, when I'm tucked up warm an' snug an when my prayers are said,
Mother tells me "Happy dreams!" and takes away the light
An' leaves me lyin' all alone an' seein' things at night!

Sometimes they're in the corner, sometimes they're by the door,
Sometimes they're all a-standin' in the middle of the floor;
Sometimes they're are a-sittin' down, sometimes they're walkin' round
So softly and so creepy-like they never make a sound.
Sometimes they are as black as ink, an' other times they're white—
But the color ain't no difference when you see things at night!

Once, when I licked a feller 'at had just moved on our street
An' father sent me up to bed without a bite to eat,
I woke up in the dark an' saw things standin' in a row,
A-lookin' at me cross-eyed an' p'intin' at me so.
Oh, my! I was so skeered that time I never slep' a mite—
It's almost alluz when I'm bad I see things at night.

Lucky thing I ain't a girl, or I'd be skeered to death!
Bein' I'm a boy, I duck my head an' hold my breath;
An' I am, Oh, so sorry I'm a naughty boy, an' then
I promise to be better an' say my prayers again!
Gran'ma tells me that's the only way to make it right
When a feller has been wicked an' sees things at night.

An so when other naughty boys would coax me into sin,
I try to skwush the Tempter's voice 'at urges me within;
An' when they's pie for supper or cakes 'at's big an' nice,
I want to—but do not pass my plate f'r them things twice!
No, ruther let starvation wipe me slowly out o' sight
Than I should keep a livin' on an' seein' things at night!

THE CELLINI VASE.

BY M. E. TORRENCE.

Mrs. Branscombe had a passion for bric-a-brac. Not the ordinary, modern kind, such as any uncultivated woman might have possessed herself of by the simple process of paying for it, but interesting things that were valuable for their rarity and their history and the celebrity of their inventors or discoverers.

She had a fan that was said to have once belonged to the last Tycoon, who had been imprisoned and who was said to have shaved his face with this identical fan as he listened to the decree which subjected him to durance vile and abolished the tycoonate forever. Mrs. Branscombe held to this theory with unshaken tenacity, but her nephew Will had been the victim of doubt ever since he had chanced upon a factory in Philadelphia which turned out an inexhaustible supply of genuine Japanese fans so like royal relic that when he replaced it for a week with one of the late manufacture his aunt did not seem to know the difference.

He had not called her attention to the experiment, because he had never forgotten one he had tried with the famous roc's egg, and he did not believe that she ever had either. The roc's egg had been the joy of her heart and the pride of her soul, and she had treasured it with anxious care for more than five years, until one day Will, in an unseemly fit of glee, had accidentally knocked it out of the nest in which it had been calmly reposing for so long and it was shattered into fragments. Thereupon it was revealed that the famous egg had been cunningly contrived with a preparation of lime carefully glazed over the surface, and no mysterious roc had ever had anything to do with its production.

Will could never get over the impression that it was scarcely fair that he should be blamed for the latter fact. He might have thought it only just that his aunt should have been vexed with him for his carelessness in knocking down her treasure, but she had never seemed half so indignant toward him for that as because of the little circumstance that the egg turned out not to be genuine. How did she suppose he could help that?

Will believed it was the roc's egg that ruined him. She had not seemed to cherish any violent animosity towards him previous to that. Since that tragic event her treatment of him had been really heart-breaking. Not that he should have cared so much had it been merely for his own sake and hers, though he had always tried to be a dutiful and affectionate nephew. There was Mabel. She was Mrs. Branscombe's niece and lived with her. It will be seen without difficulty, when taken in connection with the fact that Will was in love with Mabel, that the situation was embarrassingly complicated. It really became necessary to Will's happiness that his relations with Mrs. Branscombe should be placed on a friendly footing.

There was but one way by which Will could reinstate himself in the good graces of Mrs. Branscombe, and even that seemed impossible from a casual view. She had become possessed of a wild longing for a Cellini vase. Perhaps there was no reason why a Cellini medal or a Cellini seal might not have answered the purpose quite as well, but for some reason Mrs. Branscombe's ambition had taken the form of a Cellini vase. There was a flavor of total depravity lingering about the memory of Cellini which, by a subtle law of the affinity of opposites, endeared all things connected with him to lovers of irresistible attraction to a woman of the rigid propriety of Mrs. Branscombe. Therefore, it became necessary that she should come into possession of a Cellini vase with as little delay as might be.

"You shall have it," Will had said in a burst of affection.

That was just before he went to Florence. Mrs. Branscombe felt in an unusually friendly humor with him first for his devotion to her interests second for his absence.

He wrote often to Mrs. Branscombe, not once to Mabel. Neither did he send her any message. Mrs. Branscombe had always had faith in the remedial effect of absence in sentimental cases. It seemed to increase the affection of aunt and nephew. She was growing almost fond of him now that he was out of the way.

"Will's a good fellow, when he's in another country, isn't he?" she said to Mabel.

"Oh, yes," assented the girl cheerfully.

"He is improving his mind. It is a good thing. I have always thought it needed improvement. I think it would bear more improvement than any other mind I know. It will never be as good as Mr. Aston's, but it could be much better than it is."

Mr. Aston was Mabel's new lover, and he had a great deal of money in bonds and one of the finest houses in town; two circumstances which have a tendency to brighten a man's intellect wonderfully in public estimation.

"I think it will take a long time to improve Will's mind to any perceptible degree," said Mrs. Branscombe carefully. "He will probably be abroad five years, at least."

"What about the vase all the time?" asked Mabel.

"It will take a long time to find it," said Mrs. Branscombe with all the moral superiority of one who is conscious of aspiring to different heights. "If he should find it sooner he could send it to me."

"I have found it," Will wrote soon after this. "That is, I have found the place where it ought to be. That it is not there is only an indication of the general derangement of the universe. It was sold some time ago to a member of the ex-royal family of France. It happens, luckily for me, however the poor devil of a royalist may feel about it, that he has fallen dead broke and all his collections are to be put up for sale. So here's for Paris, and wish me good luck."

The next time she heard from Will he had gone to Rome, having been informed that the precious object had been bought for a Cardinal and taken to the Imperial City. The Cardinal had since died and there was a hope that the coveted treasure might be within grasp. Then he wrote from Madrid, where he had gone in consequence of a rumor that the precious vase had been sent to the Spanish Capital and placed in a museum.

After that she did not hear from him for a long time. She began to grow uneasy, first for the Cellini vase and then for her nephew. She had not before known how fond she was of him.

It was a year from the time of his departure that Will returned, walking in one evening as quietly as if he had been down town for an hour or so, and had just come back.

Mrs. Brascombe sprang to meet him in transports of delight. After she had welcomed him and asked him how he was and where he had been and why he had not written her, she said:—

"I forgive you for not bringing the vase. After all, Will, I think I'd rather have you. You know I was always fond of you."

Will almost whistled in an excess of incredulity, but checked himself in time.

"That reminds me, though," he said, taking a box out from some mysterious hiding place, "that I did bring the vase."

He opened the box and took from it a vase beautifully wrought of silver, ornamented on one side with a golden Venus rising from a silver sea, and on the other with a swarm of small Tritons disporting themselves gaily on the crests of silvery waves.

After a period of breathless contemplation, Mrs. Branscombe said,—

"What can I do to pay you for such a beauty?"

"You know there is only one thing thing I want."

Mrs. Branscombe looked at Mabel, standing with eyes downcast, not looking one at the classic piece of workmanship.

"Child, how can you be so insensible? Do look at the charming thing. If it's Mabel you mean you can ask her."

"I have asked her."

"You undutiful——"

Then her eye again fell upon the exquisite carving of the master goldsmith, and she relented.

"What did she say?"

"She said she would not do anything without your consent, when you have been so good to her."

"Good child," said Mrs. Branscombe, with one eye fixed apparently on the girl and the other on the vase. "I can't refuse you anything now, Will."

Will and Mabel withdrew to the next room to discuss the subject, while Mrs. Branscombe remained in delightful contemplation of the wonderful handiwork of Cellini.

"Do you suppose it is genuine?" Mabel asked the day after she and Will had returned from their bridal tour. They were looking at Mrs. Branscombe's treasures, chief among which was the marvelous vase.

"I know it is," replied Will.

"How do you know?"

He bent over her and whispered,—

"Because I made it myself."

NATIONAL WHEEL MEN.

The Great Meet Is Now on in the City of Brotherly Love.

ALL OVER THE HANDLE BARS

The Torrid Wave Does Little in the Way of Interference and Local People With Visitors Enjoy Themselves.

EVERYONE BEING TAKEN CARE OF

PHILADELPHIA, August 4.—Close, sultry weather characterized the opening day of the eighteenth national meet of the League of American Wheelmen, but it failed to suppress the enthusiasm or lessen the number of arrivals. The number of wheelmen already registered is far in excess of any previous two race meets, and up to a late hour to-night every railroad train brought additional visitors.

Prominent among to-day's arrival's were Albert Matt, of Baltimore, chairman of the national racing board; Herbert Foltz, chairman of the Indianapolis racing board; Abbott Bassett, secretary and treasurer of the national League of American Wheelmen; Sterling Elliot, ex-president of the league, and William H. Klinker, secretary of the Associated Cycling clubs of New York city. A. D. Peck, secretary-treasurer of the Massachusetts division, who will act as a starter in the races, arrived safely after having wheeled all the way from Boston. G. F. Kast, president of the Louisville league wheelmen, who will act as clerk of the course, arrived to-day. Ex-chairman of the racing board, Howard E. Raymond, came in on an early train and was in conference with George Gideon, last year's chairman. During the morning Chairman Mott, Thomas Hare, chairman of the race meet executive committee, and Abe Powell, official handicapper for this district, went carefully over the list of entries and examined the record of each professional and amateur. Two entries delayed in transmission, were received to-day. They were J. Frank Mohler and Andre Bouling, of the City of Mexico. They are the amateur champions of Mexico and reported to be very fast riders.

From the first gleam of daylight until long after midnight the asphalt streets, suburban roads and park drives were dotted by riders of both sexes. Although the humidity was high, the sun was behind clouds most of the day and lessened the discomfort considerably. The first schedule run of the meet was started at 9 o'clock from the national headquarters. Over 1,500 riders, many of them women, covered the ten miles to the country club house of the century wheelmen, riding along the river drive in Fairmount park, and the picturesque Wissahickon valley. After refreshments the return to the city was made and a much larger number rode out the Lancaster pike, the finest macadamized road in the country, passing the country homes of some of Philadelphia's wealthiest and most substantial citizens. The Indianapolis delegation, headed by Mayor Thomas Taggard, Postmaster Lahnat and Superior Court Judge Hackney, of Shelbyville, spent nearly all of last night and all of to-day securing pledges for the '98 meet. This morning Omaha began to rival their efforts, headed by W. J. Shrader, Edgar B. Henderson and L. T Broadstone.

By midnight many of the racing cracks had made their appearance, most of whom went immediately to the track at Willow Grove, fourteen miles from the city, and established themselves in their quarters.

"Johnny" Johnson, of Minneapolis, met with an accident late last night and may not be able to enter. He was being paced in the Willow Grove track by "Jack" Lindley, when the latter's rear wheel broke and threw Lindley. Johnson "spilled" over him and severely bruised his right side. Lindley was slightly scratched.

Special attention is being given the women visitors, by an auxiliary committee of local wheelmen.

—We are sorry to say that Mrs. Samuel Irwin, whom a short time ago recovered from a severe siege of sickness, is again confined to her bed.

Americans Won Out.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—The American tennis cracks established their supremacy over the visiting English team at Hoboken, N. J., to-day. It was the final day of the tournament. The result of Wednesday's play had left the two teams tied, each with three games won and three lost. E. D. Wrenn was pitted agains H. S. Mahony, G. L. Wrenn, jr., was drawn against H. A. Nisbet, and W. A. Larned met W. V. Eaves. Eaves was finally defeated at 6–4.

The match between E. D. Wrenn and Mahony, which took place on an adjoining court, proved a runaway for the American champion.

Nisbet was the only Englishman who won his match. He played all around his adversary, Geo. Wrenn.

The result of the match left the English team with a score for the week of four matches won and five lost, while the Americans finished with five won and four lost.

—The New York papers of Thursday state that Rev. H G. Furbay, Ph. D., at the Old Orchard House in Massachusetts, on Monday afternoon, choked a man named Walter Geissinger, a member of the Oxford Presbyterian church at Philadelphia, of which Dr. Furbay is pastor. The statement of the papers is in effect that Mr. Geissinger was one of the number of the Oxford people who made an unsuccessful effort to get rid of Dr. Furbay as pastor of the church some months ago, and the two gentlemen met by appointment at the place and the time the choking was done, perhaps to come to some amicable understanding if possible, but as results proved only to widen the breach. Geissinger has entered suit against the preacher, who is stated to have entered bail for his appearance at a hearing before a tribunal of justice.

Business Improving.

SAN ANDREAS, Cal., August 6, 1897.—Business has very greatly improved here of late. This is a mining section. Large sums of money have been invested here by English and other foreign capitalists, also by capitalists of various parts of the United States. The silver proposition of last year checked the mining industries here very materially, but since it has become apparent that the silver proposition is not to be adopted, there has been a marked improvement in activity, introduction of new machinery in the mines, and a large increase in the force employed, making a good demand for farm products and for labor generally.

Struck by Lightning.

On Wednesday evening, August 4th, two heavy electrical storms passed over Bellefonte. The thunder was simply terrific and the lightning blinding. During the progress of the storm the lightning struck the telphone wires which run into the Bush House, and a ball of fire came down through the office falling on an umbrella stand, setting fire to two umbrellas, and burning them up. It also struck the wires near Editor P. Gray Meek's house, knocking several slate of the roof. A house out on Benona hill was also struck and slightly damaged.

He Caught the Bass.

A few days ago Clyde Yoxheimer, a Girard college student from Lock Haven, about 10 years old, but small for his age, caught a bass in the West Branch which was 14 inches long and weighed about 1½ pounds. The mystery is how the lad landed the fish. While he was taking it home people laughed at him wondering how such a small boy could catch such a large bass.—Lock Haven Democrat.

Stop suffering! Try Dr. Miles' Pain Pills.

Was there ever a women in the wide world who did not yearn to be the mother of a bright faced, happy, healthy, laughing, rollicking child? If there ever was such a woman, she was a bad one, and while there are many thoroughly bad men, there are very few thoroughly bad women.

It was God's and Nature's intention that every woman should be the mother of healthy children. Tens of thousands of women defeat this beneficent design by their ignorance and neglect. They suffer from weakness and disease in a womanly way, and take no measures, or the wrong measures, to remedy it. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a sure, speedy and permanent cure for all disorders of this description. It acts directly and only on the delicate and important organs that are the threshold of human life. It makes them strong, healthy, vigorous and virile. It heals ulceration, allays inflammation, soothes pain and tones and builds up the nerves. It banishes the trials of the period of impending maternity and makes baby's entry to the world easy and almost painless. It does away with the dangers of motherhood and shortens the period of weakness and lassitude. It insures the little newcomer's health and a bountiful supply of nourishment. It transforms weak, sickly, nervous invalids into happy, healthy wives and mothers. Thousands of women have testified to its marvelous merits. A dealer is not a physician, and has no right to suggest a substitute for the prescription of an eminent specialist like Dr. Pierce.

Indian Professional Dyers.

The number of professional dyers in India is fast diminishing. Aniline dyes and cheap European goods are killing their trade. They are being conpelled to turn their attention to new handicrafts, just as French competition and the vagaries of fashion caused the ribbon makers of Coventry to seek a new livelihood in the manufacture of bicycles. Aniline dyes have made every man his own dyer. Formerly the complicated process by which indigenous dyes were prepared made the dyer a specialist.

Nowadays, anybody can dissolve the chemical powders sent out from Europe and color his own clothes. The aniline dyes are more brilliant, and, to the native, they have the superlative merit of cheapness. They are not so fast, and they lack the delicacy of color which, judging by the specimens annexed to the monogram, distinguish the Indian dyes, but their gaudiness makes them more popular, and so the fate of the native dyer is sealed. Silk dyeing, cotton dyeing and carpet dyeing are all declining. The fault, it should be added, is to some extent due to the conservatism of the native dyers themselves. They persistently adhere to their crude methods of preparing their dyes, and show a lamentable lack of ingenuity in preparing new designs.—Bengal Government Report.

An Aggrieved Small Boy.

There is one small boy on these grounds who fervently wishes that his sister would learn to write more legibly. Just as he was going for a swim she sent him down to the pier with a handbag and a note which read: "Please keep this bag for me until I come down." To his surprise the boy was ordered to come in and sit down in a corner of the office. After a patient wait of half an hour he asked, "May I go now?" "No," was the reply of the busy clerk; "keep quiet and stay where you are." An hour rolled by and the sister appeared on the scene. An explanation followed, and the boy was releasen with the promise of some candy. The clerk had read the note "Please keep this boy for me until I come down."—Chautauqua Assembly Herald.

Deaf Mute's Story About Washington.

"I have heard and read many pathetic stories," said Senator Hoar the other day, but none of them ever awoke so much sad sympathy as one which Professor Gallaudet related.

The professor had a favorite pupil—a little deaf mute boy, exceptionally bright. Mr. Gallaudet asked him if he knew the story of Washington and the cherry tree. With his nimble fingers the little one said he did, and then he proceeded to repeat it. The noiseless gesticulations continued until the boy had informed the professor of the elder Washington's discovery of the mutilated tree and of his quest for the mutilator. 'When George's father asked him who hacked his favorite cherry tree,' signalled the voiceless child, 'George put his hatchet in his left hand——' 'Stop! interrupted the professor. 'Where do you get your authority for saying he took the hatchet in his left hand?' 'Why,' responded the boy, 'he needed his right hand to tell his father that he cut the tree.'"

Death of Walter E. Meek.

Walter E. Meek died of paralysis at his home in Harrisburg on Thursday morning of last week. The deceased was born in Fairbrook, Centre county, June 6, 1857. He lived for a long time at Houtzdale, and moved one year ago to Harrisburg. A wife and four children survive him, also his parents, Robert and Susan Meek, who live in Fairview, Altoona. One brother and two sisters reside with the parents, and another brother and sister live in the West. He was a member of the Osceola commandery Knights Templar. The funeral took place in Harrisburg at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Grapes for Coughs and for Singers.

Auntie Rachael, a Holland nurse, has discovered a novel and effective way of using grapes in combination with Elecampane, root and Horehound for the purpose of curing coughs, colds and sore throat. It is called Aunt Rachael's Elecampane and Horehound Cordial and it is said that physicians are recommending it freely in the East. Singers and lecturers carry a bottle with them.

The Latest Snake Story.

The Port Royal Times says: The other day a large rattlesnake was killed near the telegraph tower in the Lewistown Narrows by a railroad employe. He skinned the snake in order to get the fat in it, and to his great astonishment found in its stomach two full grown rats. This is a true story, as the gentleman who related it in our hearing was present when it was killed and saw the rodents inside the serpent.

—Among the new post-masters who have been appointed, during the last week are John W. Stuart, at State College; C. D. Motz, at Woodward; M. A. Woods, at Boalsburg; and Alexander McCoy, at Potter's Mills. The appointment of Mr. Stuart has not been officially announced, though it is reported to have been made,

—Miss Harriet Stott, who left here last November to study stenography in Harrisburg, has struck it rich, for she has been appointed to a position in the insurance department at the Capitol, in place of Miss Liffingwell, who resigned to be married.

THE HOMING PIGEONS.

Their Aid to Rothschild before Electricty was Used in Telegraphy.

Carrier pigeons must not be confused with homing pigeons, notes a writer in The Badminton Magazine. The former is a fancy pigeon, especially prized for its eye and wattles, but quite useless as a messenger. Both are cousins of the dragon, but the fancier, in the case of the carrier, has bred purely for points, color, shape, etc., while the homing pigeon fancier cares nothing for these things. With him it has been "handsome as a handsome does," and stamina with intelligence has been his aim. An article in Bell's Life, of Jan. 1, 1870, speaks of the "commercial aspect" of the homing pigeon, and from it I extract the following: "Baron Rothschild, before electricity was brought into operation, had an immense quantity of pigeons for express work. These birds brought the news of the state of the money markets in Paris, and frequently the baron cleared in England, almost immediately after the news arrived, many thousand pounds by buying or selling stock. These birds did not come direct from the Continent, for there were relays throughout the distance, and the birds that were housed at Dover brought the news from Calais, when it was dispatched by another pigeon, whose home was at Sittingbourne, so on from there to Blackheath, and thence by another bird to the metropolis."

It has been generally stated, and so far without contradiction, that it was by means of their pigeon express the Rothschilds learned the result of the Battle of Waterloo several hours before the Government of the day, and, profiting by this means, were enabled to make their first great coup on the Stock Exchange.—New York Times.

MARK TWAIN'S GIFT TO HIS WIFE.

Intended His Last Work as a Remembrance of their Wedding Anniversary.

It must have been because the author of "The Personal Recollections of Joan of Arc" was on his travels in the uttermost parts of the earth when the narrative was published in book form that one of his intentions about it was not at that time carried out. It was his purpose, when he began work on the story in Florence, in 1893, that it should be a silver-wedding present to his wife. He says that she never knew of his design, and when the book was published there was nothing in it to apprise her of it. "Let us rectify," writes Mr. Clemens from London, under date of April 9; and, agreeably to his wish, a leaf will be inserted in future issues of the Recollections of Joan, bearing this inscription:

1870 TO MY WIFE 1895

is tendered on our wedding anniversary in grateful recognition of her twenty-five years of valued service as my literary adviser and editor.

A COLORED MAN'S SUCCESS.

He Has Proved Himself a Capable and Thrifty Farmer.

Barton F. Powell, of Albany, Ga., a negro thirty-two years old, is one of the most successful farmers in the state. Twelve years ago he had saved up $2,000, with which he bought 500 acres of land. He went to work on it and cleared $2,500 the first year. He has continued to add to his landed possessions, paying spot cash for every farm purchased, and is now the owner of 2,100 acres of land, from which he markets 400 bales of cotton annually. Besides his success on the farm he has developed the country supply-store idea, and thus rakes in thousands of dollars a year. He also owns a comfortable residence in Bainbridge. His profits last year were over $7,000. He says that the question of social recognition doesn't trouble him so long as he can get financial recognition at the bank.—New York Tribune.

Flowers as an Antiseptic.

It is said that the odors of flowers are antiseptic and that during epidemics the workmen in perfume factories are exempt from disease.

Some essences are good for the nerves. Ambergris, it is said, has the power to clear the brain and induce thought. Musk used in infinitesimal quantities acts as a tonic. Citron and aloes are soothing to the nerves. Strong perfumes, as a rule, are stimulating, while strange, subtle odors incline to drowsiness.

A chemist believes that each scent can be symbolized by a musical note, and a French romanticist says, on inhaling the fragrance of flowers on shore and the strains of music borne on the air from the deck of a vessel, "I could not tell whether I breathed music or heard flowers."—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Tiger With a Glass Eye.

This isn't a stuffed tiger, but a real live one, ferocious and strong. He is at present in the menagerie at Stuttgart, and looks as fierce with his glass eye as with the real one.

A serious affection of the muscles caused the beast to lose the sight of one eye. As the public didn't appreciate a one-eyed tiger, the beast was put under cocaine and the useless optic removed. This was a ticklish operation, several strong keepers holding the beast down while the eye was taken out.

He was measured for a new eye, which had to be made with a special degree of ferocity. For the first week he tried hard to rub it out; but he now rests contented as the only wild animal with a glass eye.—New York Tribune.

A SOCIETY GIRL WHO POSES.

How Miss Bradley of Washington Became a Professional Model.

Miss Kate Mickles Bradley, daughter of the late Col. George W. Bradley, U. S. A., has become a professional model, and her adoption of this rather unusual vocation has come about in a most natural way, and makes a pretty story.

A few months ago Miss Bradley and her mother returned to their home after eight years' absence in the West. At the time of her departure Miss Bradley was an almost helpless invalid, but during her sojourn West she seemed to have been touched by a fairy's wand and transformed into a perfection of physical vigor and grace.

Miss Bradley moves in Washington's most exclusive army and social circles, and her unique and beautiful "song pantomimes," in which she illustrated melodies by means of gestures, have been the feature of many entertainments given by the smart set during the season just closed.

While giving these prose poems she wore an aesthetic gown with Greek effects, the bodice low and the arms bare, and her dark hair caught in a classic knot at the back of her shapely head.

Mr. Lucien Powell, the artist, was present on one of these occasions, when he was so impressed with the beauty of her work that he gave her a letter of introduction to Mr. Jerome Uhl, and another to Mr. Richard Brooke. Mr. Brooke, in turn, sent her with a letter to the Art League, where she was immediately accepted, and began her experience as a model by posing for the head and shoulders before the portrait class of the league. She then posed for Mr. Uhl's painting, "A Morning Call," which was intended for the Cosmos exhibition, but was reported by the jury on selection as being too large.

The Bradley home is exquisitely artistic in its appointments, and numbers among its attractions a small but complete conservatory, Mrs. Bradley being as devoted to her flowers as her gifted young daughter is to her art.—Washington Times.

SHE GETS PHOTOGRAPHS.

A New Vocation which a Woman Pursues on the Fringe of Society.

The craze for illustration in the weeklies and monthlies and recreation and fashion journals of the day has created a new occupation, that of the photograph getter. The photograph getter accumulates a collection of rare likenesses and rents them out at so much a head, to be used for illustrating articles. People who are known to be approachable are not worth so much in the field as those who are suspected of objecting to notoriety. The pictures of conspicuous society women who are frequently heard to declare that they would not give their photographs to anybody for publication are rated at $5, or perhaps as high as $7. Those of women whose features have appeared once or twice in proximity to type bring only $2.50, but all have a value. Only pictures of professionals are valueless to the photograph getter. They are a drug in the market, no matter how fair of form and feature or how unique or artistic. The fact that the subjects go to the photographer on business and not for diversion spoils the pictures for the photograph getter.

The photograph getter, whether gently born or not, old or young, fair or homely, must be a diplomatist of no mean pretensions in order to succeed at her task. It is also essential that she should be if not actually in the swim at least so close on the verge thereof that the little eddying currents reach her and she obtains more than a superficial idea of what is going on in mid-stream.—New York Sun.

BASE INGRATITUDE.

The Redbirds Assaulted the Saver of their Nest.

I got into a row with a pair of cardinals one morning, says Maurice Thompson, in the Atlantic Monthly, the whole proceeding on their part showing shameless ingratitude. Hearing some bluejays making a great noise in a wild plum thicket not far from the tent, I took up my bow and went to see what was the matter for such a hubbub. A mob of jays had surrounded a little hawk, which I soon discovered in the middle of a plum tree, where he sat quite still, evidently afraid. He saw me, however, and made a dash to break the line of his enemies; but he could not go far, they worried him so. I ran forward under cover of some low foliage, presently reaching a point from which I could shoot at short range, and brought him down. Now the jays turned tail and flew away. But it had chanced that I shot from very close beside a cardinal's nest; indeed, my right elbow jostled it at the recoil of the bow. Then came trouble. Both redbirds assaulted me, pouncing at me with vicious beak-snappings, almost striking me in the face. They seemed not to account it anything that I had slain the marauder who would have made a meal upon one of them or their tender nestlings. Such is avian gratitude.

Fairy Tales.

A chamber where camphor is manufactured is a veritable fairy palace of pure white crystals. Fac-similes of palms, ferns and masses of tropical vegetation droop in graceful festoons from the roof and cover the walls.

Dandelion Leaves.

Some one who has tried it says that if two or three dandelion leaves be chewed before going to bed they will induce sleep, no matter how nervous or worried one may be.

BARLEY-RAISING A SIN IN MAINE.

The Farmers will not Grow It to Sell for the Manufacture of Malt.

The brewing of malt and distillation of alcohol are and long have been regarded as very wicked by many people in Maine. But down in the big Aroostook country the farmers, or a portion of them, are actually up in arms against a proposition to increase their prosperity by the cultivation of barley as a crop. Frank Jones of Portsmouth, N. H., who uses a vast amount of barley in his breweries and who is also very largely interested in Maine, conceived the idea that it would be a good plan to have enough barley for his use produced on the fertile plains of Aroostook instead of sending to Canada for most of what he uses, as he does now. The Secretary of the State Board of Agriculture and the State land agent thought the idea a most admirable one. An arrangement was made whereby Mr. Jones, at his own expense, sent several carloads of barley into the Aroostook region, and Land Agent Oak undertook to supervise its distribution among the farmers.

One would have supposed that the tillers of the soil would have been grateful for such aid and opportunity as were thus gratuitously offered to them. But they were not. Far from it. Instead of meeting with gratitude and commendation, the State's agent has had to face what is described as "a storm of opposition." The Aroostook grangers are up in arms against barley and barley-raising. The members of the Houlton Grange have formally condemned barley-raising for beer-making purposes, and as no farmer can be absolutely certain that, if he raises barley and sells it, it will not be used for the manufacture of malt, it is obvious that they have practically pledged themselves not to raise any barley, except for their own use. It is asserted that the grangers in every town in the county have joined the county temperance league in a "crusade" against what was intended to be a beneficent project. The clergymen have joined in the hue and cry against the grain.—Hartford Times.

AN APPLICATION FOR A POSTOFFICE.

A Happy Idea for Husband and Wife not to be of the Same Politics.

About four years ago a Republican in a Western town, who kept a general store, helped his wife, who is a strong Democrat, to get the appointment as postmaster. The office was in his store, of course, and naturally stimulated trade. But, as a Republican is now likely to be appointed in her place, the husband thinks he might as well be that Republican, and so has written a letter to his Congressman, in which he says: "I suppose there will be several applicants for the post office here. I think that a change should be made here at once. I have nothing to say against the character of the present incumbent and no charges to make against her. But, George, as you well know, she is one of the most bitter Democrats in this county. She talked and worked for Bryan so openly and persistently that I think it would be well to have her fired at once, and I want the place. I don't send you a petition in my behalf because the folks here don't seem to think it would be proper, under all the circumstances. I rely on our old friendship to secure your hearty indorsement.—New York Tribune.

Terrible Pains

In the Stomach—Dreadful Headaches—Face and Neck Covered With Boils—Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla—Skin is Now Clear.

"I was covered with boils all over my face and neck. I had dreadful headaches and pains in my stomach. I took medicines, but was not much benefited, and I procured six bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla. After taking the first bottle I could see an improvement. When I had taken a few more bottles the boils had all gone, my skin was clear, my appetite returned, and my health was entirely restored. I am thankful I ever found such a blood purifier as Hood's Sarsaparilla. I paid out a good deal of money for useless medicines before taking Hood's Sarsaparilla." W. F. BECKWITH, Burlock, Maryland.

If you decide to try Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other.

REASONS FOR USING

Walter Baker & Co.'s

Breakfast Cocoa.

1. Because it is absolutely pure.
2. Because it is not made by the so-called Dutch Process in which chemicals are used.
3. Because beans of the finest quality are used.
4. Because it is made by a method which preserves unimpaired the exquisite natural flavor and odor of the beans.
5. Because it is the most economical, costing less than one cent a cup.

THE OHIO DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

Its Assertions and Arguments Considered and Answered.

[To be published in six parts.]

PART. V.

"We demand the free and unlimited coinage of both silver and gold at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1 without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation."

A policy which all the intelligent nations of the world have abandoned since the enormous production of silver has brought it to a ratio of 34 to 1 with gold and the divergence still increasing. The product of the silver mines of the world since 1873 is practically one-half as much as that produced from the mines of the world in 300 years preceding that date, as shown by the highest official authorities.

"We demand that the standard silver dollars shall be a full legal tender equally with gold for all debts, public and private."

It is now "a full legal tender for all debts, public and private," except where such men as William M. Stewart, John P. Jones, Arthur Sewall, John P. Altgeld, John R. McLean and other silver leaders deprive it of its legal tender value by making their contracts and loans and rents and interest payable by the poor in gold only. Every one of the 450,000,000 standard silver dollars which we now have is a full legal tender for all debts, public and private, and the party which asserts even by implication that this is not the fact intends either to discredit those dollars or to deceive the people, or both.

"We favor such legislation as will prevent for the future the demonetization of any kind of legal tender money by private contract."

An excellent plan; but the fact that the leaders of the party proposing this now refuse to follow that plan in their private affairs, casts a suspicion upon the good faith of this public asertion."

"We are opposed to the policy and practice of surrendering to the holders of the obligations of the United States the option reserved by law to the government of redeeming such obligations in either silver coin or gold coin."

Every holder of obligations of the United States can receive his pay for them in silver if he desires or in gold if he desires. If the government were to insist on paying in one metal to the exclusion of the other it would immediately discredit its obligations and at the same time injure the standing of a large share of the money which it has itself issued an promised by implication or in words to keep as good as the best. While these obligations call for payment in "coin," that term, when the acts authorizing the bonds were passed, related only to that which was the equivalent of gold in value and purchasing power, and to attempt to take advantage of the fact that the metal of which a part of this coin is now made has in the meantime depreciated in value, and force coins of that particular class upon the holders of those obligations would be dishonest and would lay the government liable, as it does those who propose it, to the charge of taking advantage of a technicality to do a dishonest and treacherous act. It would bring upon the government of the United States, as it does upon the men who now mae it, the contempt and condemnation of honest men the world over.

PART. VI.

"We are opposed to the issuing of interest bearing bonds of the United States in time of peace," etc.

So are we all of us, and but for the misfortune that the government of the United States was placed under the control of the Democratic party in 1892 the would have been no necessity for issuing bonds "in time of peace," It is something new for that party, however, to announce a general opposition to "issuing bonds in time of peace," as this has frequently happened under Democratic control of the government, beginning with Jefferson and ending under Buchanan and Cleveland.

"Congress alone has the power to coin and issue money, and President Jackson declared that this power could not be delegated to corporations or individuals; we therefore denounce the issuance of notes intended to circulate as money by national banks as in derogation of the constitution, and demand that all paper which is made a legal tender for public and private debts or which is receiveable for duties in the United States shall be issued by the government of the United States and shall be redeemable in coin."

This means that all the paper money of the country shall be issued by the government, and would thus be either "fiat money" or must be sustained by keeping in the Treasury an enormous metallic reserve, much larger than the one which now exists and which causes so much dissatisfaction to the Democracy and its fiat associates of Populistic and socialistic tendencies.

"In support of these principles we invited the cooperation of all men who love liberty and hate corruption, oppression and tyranny"

A combination of high sounding words, intended only to mislead and inflame unthinking people, and coming with extremely poor taste from a party whose entire record up to the time of its removal from power in 1861, was directed against the "love of liberty" and in favor of "oppression and tyranny."

"We hereby declare all trusts and monopolies hostile and dangerous to the people interests * * * and demand a vigorous enforcement of all anti-trust laws," etc.

All of which sounds well. But the people are naturally suspicious of such declarations coming from a party which neglected during its four years of power to enforce the existing anti-trust laws, and which framed its tariff law in the interests of the sugar trust, the greatest trust of the land with the single exception of the one which it is now attempting to place in control of the nation, the silver trust.

"We demand the immediate recognition of the belligerent rights of the Republic of Cuba," etc.

Which it is generally conceded would be of little practial value to the Cubans, and would probably destroy the opportunity of bringing about through the pecaeful an proper methods of diplomacy the result for which the people of that island are now struggling.

Brutal Double Murder.

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., August 8.—Henry J. Reed, a money lender, aged 45, and Blanche M. Reed, his sister, aged 50, who lived together, were discovered this morning murdered. The body of Mr. Reed was found badly battered in bed and covered with a quilt. He had been gagged.

Miss Reed's body was partly in and partly out of the room. It appears as if she had stepped out of bed on hearing a noise, and was either killed or rendered unconscious from a blow before she could investigate further. The house had been ransacked from top to bottom. Everything was in confusion.

In the house was found a mallet, blood stained and spattered, with which the murders had been committed. Those who hold to the theory that the murders were committed from a revengeful motive state that Mr. Reed had many enemies. He had been prosecuting his business here for some time, and never had given any signs of being possessed of an unusual amount of money that would be an incentive for robbery.

Have Troubles at Home.

BUTLER, Pa., Aug. 9.—The matrimonial troubles of Eckart Kalb and his wife brought the couple into Justice Gilchrist's court again today, when the husband made information against his wife for assault and battery and surety of the peace. He is 65 years old, a one armed veteran, and she is 39.

Kalb alleges that when he asked his wife for a clean shirt yesterday she put the garment in the stove, where it was covered with soot, then dipped it in a swill barrel and offered it to him. He remonstrated, and she got an axe and threatened to split his head and that of his daughter. Mrs. Kalb says her husband is a fabricator, and wants to get rid of her because he is in love with another woman. Kalb denies her story, and claims that she has made life unbearable for him ever since he made a will in her favor. This afternoon Kalb had a commission in lunacy appointed to examine his wife.

Chief Justice Marshall.

"The man who impressed me most,' Sir Charles Murray said, "was one I met in America, and comparatively little known in England, except by lawyers. I mean Judge, or Chief Justice, Marshall. He was chief justice of the supreme court, and therefore the highest legal authority in America. I met him in Washington, and he most kindly invited me to his house at Richmond, Va,, when I should visit that part of the country. He was a remarkably fine-looking man—tall, handsome, a beautiful countenance, and the most delightful voice, low and sweet.

"His knowledge was exceptionally wide on all matters, and his manners and life as exceptionally simple. He had known Washington and all the other 'makers of America,' and would tell most interesting stories of them. I gladly remembered his invitation, and found his house was a little more than a cottage, such as well-to-do tradespeople might live in over here. I knocked at the door and it was presently opened by the chief justice himself. If he had a servant I never saw him. His mode of life was simplicity itself. Yes, he was a most remarkable man."—Cornhill Magazine.

The Summer Girl.

The summer girl has tried hard in years past to make herself appear charming—more charming than ever before—and has at length succeeded to admiration. Nothing in the form of dress that she has ever put on has equalled in simplicity, taste, beauty, appropriateness to the season or cheapness than the shirt waist. A girl with a decent skirt, can, at a dollar or two's outlay beside, make her appearance on the street in attire that, with the aid of a simple sailor hat, is about as nearly faultless as can be conceived. Cool, tastefully made and tastefully selected as to color and fabric, they are as popular as the bicycle, and our girls never before appeared to such charming advantage.

The women at the close of the season should call a great convention, and resolve that, let Dame Fashion say what she may, the shirt waist shall be one of the permanent features of young people's summer dress.

A Grand Concert.

In Monday's Daily News it was stated that the consolidated Coleville and Milesburg band would give an open air concert on the diamond, and so it did. And it proved to be one of the finest and most successful concerts ever given in our town. The young men all deserve a great deal of credit for bringing the band up to as high a standard as it has attained. It seems as though every one of them were born musicians and understands music to perfection. When they wanted to they could make their music as soft and sweet as though angels themselves were playing, and then at times you would think the earth itself were trembling with the loud tones. And so this band has proven its ability as being the band for the 5th Reg., N. G. P., for which place it is striving. We wish to congratulate Prof. Bierley for the great success he has had in instructing this band, and also Messrs. Chas. Rote, Lane Boggs and Clayton Rote for their excellent solo playing.

Booming too Fast.

New York, August 7.—Russell Sage said to-day that, while he continued to hold to his expressed opinion that everything pointed to an era of prosperity for this country, so far as the stock market was concerned he was fearful that the boom was advancing too fast.

"It would be better,', said Mr. Sage, "that the stock market should advance quietly and gradually, for such violent advances as have occurred, engineered for the most part by speculative cliques, are apt to result in violent reactions. The market has been anticipating the revival in business after the long period of depression that we have experienced, I fear, in too fast a fashion. It would be better if the advance were more gradualy, so that it could be maintained."

Worried Over His Crime.

LANCASTER, Pa., August 9.—It has just been learned that the death of James V. Galt, one of the best known citizens of Lancaster county, which occured on Sunday, was caused by a dose of laudanum taken with suicidal intent. He first attempted suicide with that drug Friday morning, but the doctors saved him. On Friday night he took another dose, which caused his death. A few years ago he was worth $100,000, but lost his money, and recently forged a note and check, Worriment over his crime is supposed to be the cause of his suicide.

A Chronic Invalid.

Mrs. Emma Ochs Clay Center, Neb., in a recent letter to Dr. Hartman, says: "I trust no one will think ill of seeing my name in public; but as I have been a sufferer I do it with pleasure for the sake of those who suffer. I have been sick for years, and had hardly faith in any medicine any more. But in my misery a book, 'The Ills of Life,' was given to me. I gave Pe-ru-na a trial, and am now as well as I ever was in my life. I had female disease. At times I would have to sit up in bed to breathe. Sometimes I had stiching pains in my breast and sides and backache; could not sleep well; could eat but very little, and what I did eat did not agree with me. During the monthly periods I suffered servere pain. My weight was reduced to 136 pounds; now it is 156. Walking across a room would tire me. A woman can take Pe-ru-na at any time; it is harmless. Any one that reads this and suffers and would like to inquire of me, will receive prompt answer."

Dr. Hartman has lately written a book especially devoted to women and the diseases peculiar to their sex. It is a very valuable book to all women, especially sick women. It will be sent free to women only for a short time by The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Co., Columbus, Ohio.

The Indianapolis Journal prints this interesting story concerning ex-President Harrison's forthcoming book: General Harrison has just completed the revision of his articles which have appeared in The Ladies' Home Journal, making extended notes and additions to them. There is a little story in connection with both articles and publication. When the arrangement for the articles was made with General Harrison by Edward W. Bok, editor of The Ladies' Home Journal, the General was paid for them, with the understanding that when they were put into book form the magazine was to share the royalties accruing thereform. Mr. Bok, however, of his own accord, generously released General Harrison from paying him any royalty, for the season, as he states, that by the publication of the articles by General Harrison the subscription list of his magazine was enlarged many thousands. The profits to The Ladies' Home Journal were more than the publishers anticipated, and in view of this Mr. Bok asks nothing further. General Harrison placed the disposition of his book in Mr. Bok's hands. The best offer came to the editor from the Scribners, and to them Mr. Bok gave the book for his distinguished contributor. General Harrison's revision of the book has just been completed, and the volume will appear in the autumn.

A BELLEFONTE MAN.

Makes a Public Statement on a subject of Interest to Our Citizens.

Mr. B. Steel who is employed at Reynold's Mill may never occupy the presidential chair. He may never aspire to be Mayor of Bellefonte he is none the less an honest employe, none the less active, and none the less intelligent. No one in the City would deny that he is not an authority on lumber and every one after reading his statement must come to the conclusion that his opinion of the old Quaker remedy is backed up by positive personal experience. Read this statement carefully. "I, like a great many other people, went to F. Potts Green's drug store and procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills for my back. I had very little faith in their virtue for nowadays advertisers will do anything and say anything to get their mixtures on the market, however, in spite of the feeling, I tried them, in fact had to try something. I was struck on the back eight or nine years ago while helping to build a house for cousin. Ever since then I have had trouble with my back, not continually but at intervals, it always seemed to pass away of its own accord and return just as mysteriously. A cold sometimes caused a recurrence and this may have been at the bottom of the last attack. The trouble was centered in the right kidney and I could feel the shape of it, as I imagine I could from the soreness. I could press it with my thumb and it would cause increased pain. When my back was at its worst I had urinary trouble that lasted three or four weeks. Well, Doan's Kidney Pills helped me from the start. I must confess they relieved me in such a short time that it surprised me to find them act so quickly. You are at liberty to make these facts known."

Doan's Kidney Pills are sold by all dealers, price 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50. Sent by mail on receipt of price. Foster-Milburn Co., sole agents for the U. S., Buffalo, N. Y.

At South Bangor and Totts Gap dwelling houses were struck and near Belvidere half a dozen horses and two cows were killed.

Administrator for the Yukon.

OTTAWA, Ont., August 9.—The Dominion government has reached several important decisions in regard to the Yukon country and the working of the gold fields there. It has been decided to appoint an administrator for the district, who will have entire charge of all the Canadian officials there and be the chief executive officer of the government. Major Walsh, a former commander of the Northwest mounted police, is to be appointed to the position.

The party of mounted police to leave Manitoba next week for the gold country has been increased from twenty to thirty-five. They will take with them two Maxim guns.

The mining regulations have been amended in an important particular. At present a miner is at liberty to stake out a claim of 500 feet, running along with the stream and back to the bank. This has been reduced to 100 feet and the new regulation will go into force immediately.

A court for the administration of civil and criminal justice for the gold district has also been decided upon. Justice McGuire, of Prince Albert, is to provide over the court.

Is Life Worth Living?

If there is an individual on earth who is excusable for thus interrogating himself, it is the unhappy mortal who suffers from malaria in some one of its diabolical forms. This is no difficult conundrum, however. Life is worth living by any man or woman who enjoys good health, and is not harrassed by a reproachful conscience. The malarial scourge, heavily laid on, is a terrible one for the poor sufferer to endure. A series of freezings, scorchings and sweats—the last leaving one as limp and as strengthless as a dish rag, are hard indeed, recurring as they do with fiendish regularity. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the world-wide known preventative and curative of this class of maladies, either in the form of fever and ague, bilious remittant, dumb ague and ague cake. Used with persistence, they will, rely upon it, eradicate disease from the system. They also conquer rheumatism, kidney and bladder complaints, nervousness, dyspepsia, liver complaint, and constipation, and renew failing strength.

Death of a Former Citizen of Bellefonte

C. M. Bursley, formerly general secretary of the Bellefonte Y. M. C. A, and at the time of his death occupying the position as physical director at Bangor Maine, died July 19th, at the Maine general hospital at Portland, as the results of an operation for the removal of a tumor in his side, Mr. Bursley was a native of Portland, and was thirty-two years of age. At one time he was general Secretary of the Association at Auburn, Me., and later took a course at Springfield training school. After graduation he took the position of physical director at Glen Falls N. Y., going to Bangor last October to accept the physical directorship there.

The burial was at Brodgton, Me., where reside the relatives of his wife who survives him. A memorial service was held by the Association Sunday July 25th, at Bangor, where he was held in high esteem by the association and by the church of his choice.

Struck in the Eye With a ball.

Howard, Aug 6th.—An accident occured at this place to-day which might have resulted seriously.

Mr. C. F. Zimmerman of Palmy ra Pa Agent for J. Landis & son, Shoe Manufacturers at that place, after having attended to business with B. Webers Sons, in company with Dr. J. C. McEntire of Bellefonte Pa., walked to the ball ground to see the boys, practice for their game at Hecla, to-morrow, and while there was hit on the right eye by a batted ball, which struck him very hard. In a few minutes his eye was discolored and very much swollen, he afterwards called on Dr. Hensyl to asertain if the eye ball was injured or not and was informed that it was not. He left for home this morning on the 9:59 train.

We are informed that Mr. Zimmerman was appointed Post Master at his home yesterday.

Woman's Deadly Blow.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., August 7.—During an altercation in front of her home last evening Mrs. Mary Small struck Christian Ackerman, an aged German, in the face with her fist. Ackerman fell and breathed his last a minute later, when bystanders were carrying him into his home. They were neighbors and had quarreled often.

Ackerman was a sufferer from heart disease, and the doctors say the excitement of the quarrel killed him. Mrs. Small, who is a large woman and can strike a heavy blow, was jailed pending the coroner's verdict. Coroner Straughn was notified and arrived here late last night. The inquest will be held to-day.

St. Swithin's Day.

St. Swithin is certainly holding up his reputation this year. It rained on July 15, and it has rained nearly every day since. No wonder those who remember the old tradition are concerned about the thirty days to come. We are assured by those who study the weather records that there is nothing in this tradition, and yet it has persisted a thousand years, in spite of science, and each July's rains refresh it.

The actual legend of the translation of St. Swithin is probably true. He was Bishop of Winchester in the ninth century, and yet by his own direction he was buried in the churchyard where men could walk over him and the rain fall on his grave.

A century later it was proposed to remove his remains to a costly shrine within the cathedral. On the appointed day it rained, and the ceremony was postponed; the next day it rained, and the next, and so on for forty days, as though to protect the good saint in his humble grave.

The enshrinement of the relics was, nevertheless, eventually accomplished, and is commemorated on July 15, and from that day to this it has been a popular saying that if it rain on St. Swithin's Day it will rain on each of the thirty-nine days following.

Why not be Strong?

Blood, tissue, health and strength are generated from the food we eat; therefore, the maintenance of a vigorous digestion is quite essential to life. To strengthen and help digestion, use Dr. John W. Bull's Pills, the best remedy for stomach troubles ever devised. Mrs. C. J. Dobson, Kansas, Ill., in ordering some Dr. Bull's Pills, writes: "The people in this section are daily accomplishing good results with Dr. John W. Bull's Pills. An old lady told me the pills did her so much good, she could not be without them." Dr. John W. Bull's Pills (60 in a box) cost but 25 cents; trial box, 10 cents, at all dealers, or by mail. A. C. A Wild Cat Den.

J. W. Swope, the Huntingdon trapper, says the big wild cat den on Warrior's Ridge had eight wild cats in it—two old ones and six young ones, about half grown. He caught seven near the den, and an old one at a rabbit's hole about 50 yards away from the den.

ENORMOUS CROWD EXPECTED

At Business Men's Picnic At Hecla To-day.

The committee for the Business Men's Picnic at Hecla to-day, met Monday evening at the Fallon house and completed arrangements for an annual outing.

The Central railroad have made provisions to handle crowds running up to and exceeding 10,000 or 12,000.

The Lock Haven band, which organization will have charge of the main restaurant and dancing platform, will take bread and meat to make 8,000 to 10,000 sandwiches. and have made arrangements to have more on the grounds, in case it should be needed. They will also have enough coffee for everybody. Coffee will be sold by the quart, or in any quantity desired. A large quantity of ice cream has been ordered.

The other stands, at which lemonade, soft drinks. etc., will be sold has been taken by Bellefonte parties.

The bicycle races will take place at 1.30 o'clock; the championship game between Lock Haven and Williamsport has been set for 2:30 o'clock and the trap shooting contest is scheduled for 4:30. All these events will take place on the race course. It was decided that the admission to these events shall be 25 cents for gentlemen; 15 for ladies. and 10 cents for boys.

The railroad company has reserved the first floor of the large mill on the grounds, where any sort of bagage will be checked for a nominal figure. The second floor will be devoted to wheelmen, where all who desire can leave their bicycles in charge of competent men, who will take care of them for a low price.

Samples of the souvenir buttons were distributed to members of the committee. The button is an inch and a quarter in diameter and has emblazoned on the surface a view of Hecla park. Around the edge is printed "Lock Haven-Bellefonte Business Men's Picnic, Hecla Park, August 12, 1897."

The prizes for the bicycle races were also shown. The first prize is a handsome diamond stud; the second is a gold medal and the third is a silver medal. Both medals are alike in design—a bar, to which is fastened small links holding the wheel emblem of the L. A. W. All the prizes are valuable in price.

Hon. Cyrus Gordon, who has been selected to deliver the address, yesterday notified Superintendent Gephart that other engagements made under circumstances that he could not control would prevent him from attending the picnic. After a discussion, a motion of Mr. Rittman's was adopted, that T. C. Hipple, esq., of Lock Haven, be selected to deliver the address. A committee afterwards waited upon Mr. Hipple. Mr. Hipple is considering the matter.

Flim Flammers at Jersey Shore.

Two strangers worked the flim flam game on Mrs. William Saft at Jersey Shore Saturday. They purchased two cigars, tendered two dollars in payment, Mrs. Saft returned $1 90 in change, when one of them asked her to hand back the two dollar bill and he would give her the exact change for the cigars. Mrs. Saft handed back the bill and as the men were going out the door she recollected with the two dollar bill they also had the $1.90 in change. She called her husband, who soon overtook the men. He threatened to thrash the rascals when they gave him the money. They then skipped out and have not been seen since.

Murder is Suspected.

Dwight Wilson, formerly of Aurora, N. Y., died at DuBois late Saturday night from the effects of a gunshot wound, and there is a suspicion that he was murdered. Two weeks ago Wilson made his home with a man and woman at Rathmel, near DuBois. Saturday night, the three were at Reynoldsville and returned home early. At a late hour a physician was called to attend Wilson and found him lying in front of the house with a bullet hole in his head and a gun by his side. The couple declare that he had shot himself. An inquest was held last night, but the result of the inquiry was not learned.

A Case of Interest—In Pocket.

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., August 9.—It is given out that Captain George W. Skinner, United States pension agent at Pittsburg, has been offered the position of superintendent of the Soldier's Orphans' Industrial school, at Scotland, to succeed Colonel James M. Clark. A member of the commission said he thought Captain Skinner would accept, as he expected to give way to a republican at Pittsburg and is deeply interested in the success of the Scotland school.

$1,000! REWARD! $1,000!

A Daring Attempt Was Made on the Hollidaysburg Post Office.

The Hollidaysburg post office was broken into by three unknown and masked men on Tuesday, August 10th, 1897, between the hours of 12:30 and 2:00 a. m.

Postmaster S. Gibson Barr, who was sleeping in the office, was brutally assaulted and beaten. An attempt was also made to dynamite the safe and steal the Goverment funds, but the robbers failed in their endeavor.

The Hollidaysburg Borough Council has offered a reward of $500 for the arrest and conviction of the perpetrators of these crimes, and the United States Government, also, has a standing reward of $500.

The men are described as follows: One man is 6 feet in height and will weigh about 200 pounds. The second man is about 5 feet 10 inches in height and weighs about 175 pounds. The third man is 5 feet 8 inches in height and weighs about 150 pounds.

GOLD DEMOCRATS.

They are Likely to Nominate a State Ticket of Their Own.

WAITING ON THE OTHER SIDE

The Trend of the Popocrats Being in the Rut of Free Silver the Leaders of the Other Wing are Waiting for Signs.

AS TO A PROBABLE NOMINEE

PHILADELPHIA, August 6.—Chairman William B. Given, of the Jeffersonian or sound money states committee, came to this city to-day, and after consultation with some of his Philadelphia colleagues, issued a call for a meeting of that body in the Hotel Walton on Thursday, September 2, at noon. Every committeeman will be requested by letter from the chairman to be present, as the business promises to be of unusual importance. Questioned on the subject, Mr. Given, while not going into details of plans which the sound democratic leaders have been considering for some weeks, disclosed enough to indicate that the organization of which he is the head will be maintained in fighting trim as long as the old policy management may persist in carrying the Chicago banner.

"At our state committee's meeting," said the chairman, "a number of important questions with regard to the approaching campaign will be considered. Among these will be the fixing of a time and place for the meeting of our state convention and the advisability of placing a state ticket in the field.

"I think much will depend on the attitude and platform of the old organization at the Reading convention, which meets two days in advance of the Jeffersonian state committee meeting. I think a united democratic party in Pennsylvania is possible, but I confess that in the light of the utterances of several recent democratic county conventions, it does not seem probable.

"With a united democratic party, taking advantage of the wide and seemingly irreconcilable dissensions in the republican ranks, and the profligate and corrupt record of the last republican legislature, it might be possible to attract enough independent votes to carry Pennsylvania, but the old Keystone state will never be carried by an army marching under the flag of Bryanism."

Correspondence with Jeffersonian committeemen indicates a sentiment in favor of pressing National Committeeman John C. Bullitt to be candidate for state treasurer if it shall be deemed advisable to nominate a state ticket this year. It is felt that issues with opposing parties could be raised more effectively by concentration on the state treasureship. This is said to account for the fact that few, if any Jeffersonians have yet been mentioned for auditor general, while many are proposed, in addition to Mr. Bullitt, for state treasurer, among them George F. Baer, of Reading; ex-Judge Galbraith, of Erie; B. J. McGrann, of Lancaster; Colonel Henry McCormack, of Harrisburg, and E. R. Payne, of Williamsport.

County Institutes.

Prof. John Hamilton, the Deputy Secretary of Agriculture, is making his appointment of Institutes for each county, has made such arrangements that the department will furnish at least two lecturers to each county for Institute work during the season, on the basis of two days of Institute to every county having not over 1,000 farms; three days to each county having more than 1,000 and not over 1,500; afterward, one day each for 1,500 farms or fraction thereof additional. This insures department aid to each county in proportion to its agricultural interests.

Prosperity is Here.

MANISTIQUE, Mich., Aug. 6.—Manistique is seeing greater business activity, more men employed and better wages than for several years. The Weston Mfg. Co., which does a large business in the manufacture of packing cases, is crowded with work, and this is looked upon as an improvement and satisfactory index of the business condition of the country, for when business among manufacturers and dealers is brisk, there is a large demand for packing boxes. The Western Furnace company, which has been idle three years, goes into blast within a few days, thus giving employment to nearly 1,000 men, and assuring wood-choppers, charcoal-burners and miners steady employment. Large numbers of men are now employed in the work of the Ann Arbor Railroad company, which is making this place the upper lake terminus for their winter car ferries. The Manistique and Northwestern Railroad company is pushing work on its line which was projected several years ago but suspended shortly after the inauguration of President Cleveland. The Chicago Lumber company, which employs a large number of men, is now working on full time, and making regular payments, which it was not always able to do during the last two or three years.

Three Century Run.

Robert B. Wilson and Bert Havens, two Tyrone young men, returned last night from an extensive bicycle tour that will furnish a pointer for a pleasant trip for other cyclists. They left Tyrone at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, reaching Bellefonte at 6:45 the same evening. Leaving Bellefonte at 7:30 Tuesday morning they traversed beautiful Nittany Valley, passing through Spring Mills, Penn Hall, Aaronsburg and Hartleton, and making the six miles run from the latter place to Mifflinburg in 15 minutes, arriving at the town of pretty girls at 7 in the evening.

They departed from Mifflinburg at 7:30 Wednesday morning and rode the first fifteen miles to Centerville in 55 minutes. Lewistown was reached at 1:30 p. m. and the boys remained there until 9:30 Thursday morning when they started for home via Reedsville, Belleville and Allenville. At Huntingdon they rested from noon until 4 o'clock when they resumed their journey through Alexandria, Water Street and Union Furnace, to Tyrone, arriving here about 9 o'clock last night.

The trip was one of 280 miles, and with the extra riding about some of the towns, the young men probably rode about 300 miles. They passed through six counties, and as a general rule found the roads excellent for cycling.—Tyrone Herald

D., 1897, at 2 o'clock p. m., sharp, for the purpose of nominating a county ticket and transact such other business as may come before them. It is of the utmost necessity that everyone should be there, and I therefore urge you most earnestly to be there. We can never accomplish anything by standing aloof. Come together. Now please don't fail to be present. In the evening at 8 o'clock there will be a Mass Meeting, addressed by Rev. Quincy Lee Morrow, of Maryland, one of our leading National speakers. He will also be at the convention. He is a very forcible speaker and never fails to interest and convince his hearers. THE OHIO DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

Its Assertions and Arguments Considered and Answered.

[To be published in six parts.]

PART. IV.

"We are unalterably opposed to monometallism which has locked fast the prosperity of an industrial people in the paralysis of hard times,"

The adoption of free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 would result in true monometallism, with silver as the money metal. This is proven by the fact that every country which has attempted to retain the silver standard or the concurrent free coinage of both metals at a ratio widely different from the commercial ratio of the two metals has lost all of its gold and retained only silver currency and true monometallism, while other nations making gold the standard and coining silver on government accounts circulate both metals in large quantities, approaching thus more nearly to true bimetallism than those which by the free and unlimited coinage of silver at a ratio widely different from the commercial ratio of the two metals obtain only silver monometallism. The condition of the people of the countries maintaining the gold standard, or what the framers of this platform term gold monometallism, is one of vastly greater prosperity than that of the people of the countries maintaining the silver standard. There is more money per capita, better wages, better homes, more comforts of life, more education and more general intelligence among the people of the gold standard countries than among those of any of the countries having the silver standard. Mexico, which is probably the most prosperous of the silver standard countries, has a total of $4.95 per capita for its people, the South American States a per capita of less than $2 aside from the uncovered and depreciated paper, China $3,33, the Central American States $3.66, while Germany has $17.59 per capita, Great Britain $20.78 per capita, United States $22.57 per capita, Netherlands $24.25 per capita, and France $35.-77 per capita. "Monometallism" has indeed "locked fast the prosperity of an industrial people in the paralysis of hard times" wherever it has been established by the process proposed by this platform, viz: the unlimited coinage of both metals at a ratio widely differing from their relative commercial value.

"Gold monometallism is a British policy and has brought other nations into financial servitude to London."

It is also a German policy, a French policy, a Belgian policy, an Austro-Hungarian policy, a Netherlands policy, a Danish policy, a Russian policy, a Chilian policy, a Peruvian policy, a Japanese policy, and in fact the policy of the most enlightened and progressive nations the world over. If the United States were to abandon her present system and undertake a greatly enlarged use of silver without the co-operation of other nations she would abandon the company of the most intelligent, enlightened and prosperous nations of the world and join the ranks of the weakest and least intelligent nations, all of which are hastening to adopt the gold standard as rapidly as possible.

"It is not only unAmerican but anti-American and it can be fastened on the United States only by the stifling of the spirit and love of liberty which proclaimed our political independence in 1776 and won it in the war of the Revolution."

The "spirit and love of liberty which proclaimed our independence in 1776" and which is still strong in the minds of the people of the United States is not in favor of reducing the citizens of this country to the level of poverty, degradation, ignorance and practical enslavement which characterize the condition of the masses in the few remaining silver standard countries of the world today. The only attempt to "stifle the spirit of love of liberty" ever made in the United States began in 1861 by the very party and the very leaders who are now proposing to degrade the working people of this country to a level of those least intelligent and prosperous on the face of the earth.

You and Your Grandfather.

Are removed from each other by a span of many years. He traveled in a slow going stage-coach while you take the lightning express or the eletric car. When he was sick he was treated by old fashioned methods and given old fashioned medicines, but you demand modern ideas in medicine as well as any thing else. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the medicine of to-day. It is prepared by modern methods and to its preparation are brought the skill and knowledge of modern science. Hood's Sarsaparilla acts promptly upon the blood and by making pure, rich blood it cures disease and establishes good health.

A Little More Politics.

Williamsport, August 6.—In an interview last evening Attorney General McCormick was asked: "Have you seen the interview with Richard R. Quay published in a Philadelphia morning paper wherein Mr. Quay says: "It is all rot. Mr McCormick is the last man in the state whom my father would support for governor."

"Yes, I have read it with much interest, because it bears much evidence of being authoritative."

"Do you desire to say anything in reply?"

"I cannot say that I desire to do so, but I think it only fair that in this public way I should acknowledge the compliment bestowed upon me. I have never considered the question of being a candidate for governor; have not even talked about it with my closest friends. I suppose there must be a million people, more or less, eligible to the office of governor of Pennsylvania, and to be selected as "the last man whom my father would support" is an enexpected compliment. The man whom Senator Quay supports for governor next year he will, of course, expect to control, and thus prevent independent judgment on the part of the executive. This is a price no self-respecting man can pay for the gubernatorial nomination. Hence the implied compliment in being the last man in" the state whom my father would support.

Supporters of the Wilson bill, what few there are of them, are trying to offset the evidence that the tariff reduction under that measure was the true cause of the reduction in the wage of the coal miners by asserting that the importations of coal under that law were no greater than under the McKinley law. Bless you, it is not always the quantity imported that affects prices. It is the fact that articles produced by cheap foreign labor come in at lower prices than they can be produced with payment of good wages at home that does the mischief. Nova Scotia coal, the moment the Wilson law became effective could come into the United States 35 cents per ton cheaper than it could come in before, and did come in and drove out of the New England markets the West Virgina coal, which had been carried in up to that time at such a narrow margin of profit that it could no longer find a market there in competition with the reduced rates of Nova Scotia coal. As a result the West Virginia coal went west into competition with that of the Mississippi valley, a coal war and a traffic war followed and cut down the wages of the miners to just about the amount of the reduction of the duty by the Wilson law.

The Indianapolis Journal prints this interesting story concerning ex-President Harrison's forthcoming book: General Harrison has just completed the revision of his articles which have appeared in The Ladies' Home Journal, making extended notes and additions to them. There is a little story in connection with both articles and publication. When the arrangement for the articles was made with General Harrison by Edward W. Bok, editor of The Ladies' Home Journal, the General was paid for them, with the understanding that when they were put into book form the magazine was to share the royalties accruing thereform. Mr. Bok, however, of his own accord, generously released General Harrison from paying him any royalty, for the season, as he states, that by the publication of the articles by General Harrison the subscription list of his magazine was enlarged many thousands. The profits to The Ladies' Home Journal were more than the publishers anticipated, and in view of this Mr. Bok asks nothing further. General Harrison placed the disposition of his book in Mr. Bok's hands. The best offer came to the editor from the Scribners, and to them Mr. Bok gave the book for his distinguished contributor. General Harrison's revision of the book has just been completed, and the volume will appear in the autumn.

A Famous Pigeon.

Mrs. Nansen's pigeon has become one of the world's wonders. When Nansen, her husband the famous artic explorer, was up n the polar regions and Mrs. Nansen was itting in her home wondering how it fared with him, she heard a gentle tapping at the window pane. Mrs. Nansen opened the window, and a carrier pigeon flew in She recognized it as the one he had taken from the cottage 30 long months before. It brought a note from Nansen stating that all was going well with him and his expedition to the polar regions. Nansen had fastened a message to this bird, and, strange as it may seem. it had found its way back to the old home.

In MCCLURE'S MAGAZINE for September will be reproduced a superb life-cast of the face of Henry Clay, made by John H. I. Browere in 1825, when Clay was forty-eight years old. It is probably the most real and vivid likeness of Clay in existence, and it has never been published. In the same number of MCCLURE'S will be reproduced the only portrait ever painted of Mrs. Henry Clay. It also has never been published. Notes by Mr. Charles Henry Hart will relate the history of the portraits and the circumstances under which they were produced.

THE CENTURY MAGAZINE will offer twelve prizes of $250 each, three a year, for four successive years, to college graduates receiving the degree of Bachelor of Arts, for the best poem, the best essay, and the best short story. Graduates must submit their work before June 1st of the year succeeding graduation, and the young men and women who came out of college in June, 1897, are to have first chance at the drizes.

OF KINGSTON, N. Y.

Cured of Spasms by Dr. Miles' Nervine.

THE many cases of spasms, St. Vitus dance and epilepsy that Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine has cured, would alone give this great remedy wide reputation. Mrs. Walter A. Steward, 773 Broadway, Kingston, N. Y., says March 3, 1896: "In 1893, while on a visit to friends our little girl was taken with spasms. We hastened home to our family physician. He did all he could but failed. We called several physicians but the spasms continued, her tongue became partially paralyzed and the doctors said she would never talk again. Night and day we watched the poor little sufferer and tried every remedy we saw advertised for such cases but got no relief. We began giving Dr. Miles' Nervine, and after taking four bottles she was running about as well and happy as ever."

Dr. Miles' Remedies are sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee, first bottle benefits or money refunded. Book on Heart and Nerves sent free to all applicants.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Aug. 6.—Actions were begun to-day in the United States Circuit court by counsel for Charles O. Kaiser, Jr. who is under sentence of death for the murder of his wife on October 28, 1896, to recover the amount of three policies of insurance on the life of the murdered woman. These suits are against the Mutual Life Association of Galesburg, Ill., on a policy for $5,000, and the Union Central Life Insurance company of Cincinnatti on two policies, one for $1,000, the other for $4,000. The last two policies, issued respectively in March and July, 1896, are payable to Mrs. Kaiser's estate, of which by the terms of her will, Kaise is the sole legatee. In this action Kaiser's father, as administrator of the murdered woman's estate, is the plaintiff.

Harper's Magazine.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE for August will be particularly strong in fiction, with short stories by Frederic Remington, Owen Wister, Mary Hartwell Catherwood, Bliss Perry, Mary M. Mears, Mary Berri Chapman, and Alice Duer, and with the second instalment of "The Kentuckians," by John Fox, Jr. A notable feature of the number will be an article on "The Inauguration," by Richard Harding Davis, similar in character to the vivid description of "The Coronation of the Czar," which Mr. Davis published in the Magazine a few months ago.

An Unusual Case.

An unusual case was heard before Esquire Keichline this week, wherein Mrs. Esther Rider had her husband, John S. Rider, arrested for non-support, the latter being bound over to answer at court. Both parties reside in Ferguson township, are over 50 years of age, and favorably known in the western part of the county. The evidence showed that Mrs. Rider was raised by a widow lady, and after her marriage Mr. Rider farmed the place. When the widow died she willed the farm to Mrs. Rider, on which they raised several children, all of whom are grown up, and most of them married.

Everything was prosperous until three years ago, when Mrs. Rider rented the place to one of her sons for one-third of the crops. Things became so unpleasant that Mr. Rider was compelled to reside with another son. Mrs. Rider claims that one-third of the proceeds of the farm, although it is a good one, will not keep her.—Bellefonte Correspondence of Grit.

Postal Saving Banks.

The postal saving bank idea is taking a firm hold on the people of this country and by the time for the election of another Congress should assume the importance of a party issue. The people want postal saving banks, and the party that promises to take steps to secure them should receive on that account alone a large measure of popular support. The lessons of hard times have been severe ones. There are prospects of better conditions. The people are ready for some years of economy, but the tendency to save is discouraged by the insecurity of savings banks conducted as private enterprises.—Chicago Journal.

MANY LIVES LOST

Fatal Result of an Explosion at a Fire in Chicago.

OCCURRED IN A GRAIN ELEVATOR

Bursting of a Boiler or the Explosion of Mill Dust Supposed to Be the Cause of the Terrible Calamity.

THE FORCE WAS TREMENDOUS

CHICAGO, August 5.—Seven and probably eight lives were lost in an explosion which took place this evening during a fire in the northwestern grain elevator at Cook and West Water streets. Four of the dead are firemen. The body of another fireman is thought to be buried in the ruins of the elevator, and three people were blown into the Chicago river. From the force with which the explosion swept the spot on which they were standing it is certain they must have been instantly killed. Either the bursting of a boiler or the explosion of mill dust caused the awful havoc: The origin of the blaze is believed to have been in the vicinity of the boiler house. Accumulated dust as dry and inflammable as gunpowder that had been piling up for years formed a ready means for the fire. It spread with great rapidity and then came a terrific explosion, completing the work of scattering the fire through the entire structure.

Just as the firemen were getting into position for advantageous work and nearly all the members of engine company No.3 were mounting ladders and bringing leads of hose to play on the interior, from the upper windows there came a roar that could be heard for half a mile, the roof was raised high in the air and the walls came down with a crash.

The force of the explosion was so great that the eastern wall was hurled into the river, the west wall was tumbled down upon the heads of the unfortunate men below and the roof was torn into mighty fragments and distributed for blocks around. Every window in the vicinity of the elevator was shattered by the concussion, dozens of persons were injured by flying debris and several small fires resulted from falling timbers that were still in flames. At Jefferson street and Carroll avenue, many blocks distant, burning masses of wreckage fell upon four wagons loaded with hay and set them in flames.

The elevator was of composite construction, the lower portion being of brick and the upper part of frame covered with corrugated iron. The explosion caused a perfect bombardment of flying bricks and sheets of smoke. The explosion for a moment stunned the police and firemen, but they quickly rallied and rescued those who were hurt. Dozens of men lay in the withering heat, some seriously burned and others in the throes of death. It was dangerous work to get them out, but it was gallantly and quickly done and all of the slightly injured were removed. The dead were, for the time, left where they lay. No man could reach their bodies and live.

The fire was most difficult to control as the elevator was surrounded by a number of small buildings which were continually catching fire. The total loss is estimated at $300,000, which is fully covered by insurance. The three firemen who were killed by the falling walls of the elevator were: Jacob Schur, John J. Coogan and Jacob S. Stramer.

The injured: Charles S. Conway, fireman, may die; Chief Dennis Swenie, Fire Marshall Campion, Lieutenant Smith, Lieutenant W. H. Bartlett, Assistant Engineer Benjamin Blanchard, John F. Smith, William McGuire, 15 years old; Thomas Engle, pipeman; Ignatus Bond, Captain John J. Evans, William Hanley, pipeman; William Thompson.

Besides these, dozens of firemen and passers-by were more or less cut and bruised by glass and flying debris.

The Scalp Law.

The Governor has signed the bill placing a premium of $2.00 on wild cats, $1.00 on red or grey foxes and 50 cents on minks. In order to secure this premium the animal itself or its entire pelt from tip to nose must be presented to a justice or alderman and make affidavit where and by whom the animal was killed. The officer will then cut off the ears and burn them, giving the person a certificate of the amount due him, who, upon presentation of the same to the county commissioners, will receive an order for the amount upon the county treasurer.

The officer who gives the certificate is to receive 25 cents for his services out of the county treasury.

Any person who shall wilfully and fraudulently collect any premiums shall, upon conviction thereof, pay a fine not exceeding $500 or undergo an imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year or both. This law is now in effect.

Wedding at Coleville.

A verry pretty wedding occured at the home of William Rhodes, in Coleville, Wednesday evening Aug.4, at 6 o'clock. The contracting parties were Miss Elmira Rhodes, daughter of William Rhodes, and Mr. William Jodon, son of George Jodon.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. McNally, of Pleasant Gap. There were about thirty guests present and it was a very enjoyable affair. Many valuable presents were received by the happy young couple. The groom is employed at the glass works as a snapper and is a steady and industrious young man. The bride is a bright and accomplished young lady and one who will make a fitting helpmate through life. They were serenaded by the Coleville band.

Threatened With Blood Poisoning.

About a week ago Milton Straub an employe at Criders lumber yard, received a scratch on the arm from coming in contact with a rusty nail. He paid very little attention to it, but during the following night the arm began to swell to an immense size. Sunday morning his limbs became stiff and he was threatened with lock jaw; Dr. Locke was called in and found that Mr. Straub was in danger of blood poisoning, but by promptly administering remedies serious results were prevented.

House Destroyed by Fire.

The house situated at the east end of Lemont, owned by William Keller, of this township, and occupied by his daughters, was destroyed by fire on Monday night, August 2. The ladies were away from home at the time of the fire and it is thought that the fire was the work of an incendiary. We have not yet learned whether the house was insured.—Reporter.

EDNA CRIDER'S MURDER.

Detective Vernes Said to Have Made Some Sensational Disclosures.

A startling story reached here today from Haneyville which, if true, will prove Paul Koitsch innocent of the foul murder of little Edna Crider, which occurred several weeks ago.

The facts were brought to Jersey Shore by a man named Hoover, who lives near Haneyville. He says that Detective Vernes and another detective visited the scene of the murder on Tuesday and thoroughly went over the ground. The Lebo residence was searched, he said, and in a bedroom a large blood stain was found on the floor. Bloody bedclothes were also discovered hidden in an upstair room.

When the officers questioned Mrs. Lebo she became confused and told several conflicting stories.

The officers took possession of the bedclothing and removed a portion of the floor, which will be sent to Philadelphia to undergo a chemical analysis to ascertain whether the stains were made by human blood.

If the analysis demonstrates the presence of human blood, it will no doubt put a different phase on the case, proving that the crime was committed in the Lebo house.

It is believed by the detectives that the girl was murdered in the bed room where, her body was also mutilated, and that under cover of night the dead girl was carried out and hid among the bushes.

The News attempted to verify the story by telephoning to Lock Haven, but failed.—Williamsport News.

When your stomach begins to trouble you, it needs help. The help it needs, is to digest your food, and, until it gets it, you won't have any peace. Stomach trouble is very distressing, very obstinate, very dangerous. Many of the most dangerous diseases begin with simply indigestion. The reason is that indigestion (not-digestion, not-nourishment) weakens the system and allows disease germs to attack it. The antidote is Shaker Digestive Cordial, strengthening, nourishing, curative.

It cures indigestion and renews strength and health. It does this by strengthing the stomach, by helping it to digest your food. It nourishes you. Shaker Digestive Cordial is made of pure herbs, plants and wine, is perfectly harmless and will certainly cure all genuine stomach trouble. Sold by druggists, price 10 cents to 1.00 per bottle.

Slightly Hurt at the Fire.

While working at the fire, on Tuesday Aug. 3, night, drayman Jacob Bartlett suffered a painful injury by running against a piece of railroad iron that was projecting from the side of the boiler works.

He struck himself in the groin and though he was not seriously injured it was painful enough to lay him up for a day or two.—Watchman

A Typical Kansas Town.

Mr. William Allen White in the August Atlantic has a paper entitled "A Typical Kansas Town," in which he says:

Women shape the public sentiment in a Kansas town. In most towns in other states the corners of the principal streets are occupied by dram-shops. In the town where this paper is written, the influence of women has been exerted so forcibly that three of the four corners where the two main streets cross are occupied by banks. Instead of Hogan's retreat on the fourth corner stands a bookstore. Here the boys and young men of the town find a meeting place. Here they make their appointments. Here they browse through the weekly illustrated papers and the magazines and look through the new books. In this bookstore the football games are bulletined, the baseball games are talked over and politics finds its forum. Among all the boys and men who frequent this resort there is no habitual drinker; there is not one whose name has been stained with scandal. These young men are business men, clerks, professional men, real estate brokers and college students. They are clean, shrewd, active young men, who have been brought up in a town where the women make public sentiment, in a town of "petticoat government" wherein a woman has never held an administrative municipal office. It is a town of eight thousand inhabitants, without a saloon, without a strange woman and without a town drunkard.

Troubles of the Sankeys.

The Philadelphia Times: Claiming to be animated by fear of bodily injury, Mrs. Cloerice L. Sankey, on Friday last, swore out before Magistrate Jermon a warrant for the appearance of her husband Samuel K. Sankey, a prominent real estate operator of West Philadelphia, and when he appeared before the Magistrate on Monday last she repaired to their home, at 750 North Forty-first street, and aided by a dozen men, completely dismantled the house, removing carpets, furniture and all movables in four large vans, leaving her whereabouts a mystery.

The couple were married three years ago and for a time appeared perfectly happy. Mr. Sankey was the owner of a number of house in West Philadelphia, and these, it is claimed by his wife, he deeded to her. She also claims as hers the house in which they and Mr. Sankey's three children lived, as well as the contents, which she removed on Monday. Mr. Sankey has sworn out warrants for her arrest on the charge of larceny, and in addition will bring suit to recover the real estate as well as to replevin the household goods.

(Samuel K. Sankey is a native of Millheim and a son of Jacob Sankey now also residing in Philadelphia.

Presbyterians Meet.

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., August 5.—More than a thousand Presbyterians attended the reunion at Mount Alto to-day. Heavy electrical storms kept away many who usually attend the annual reunion. It had been expected that ex-President Harrison would be here to make the leading address at the reunion and to pay a visit to his mother's birthplace in this county, but the general sent a letter of regret from his summer home in the Adirondacks. Letters of regret were also received from Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, Controller Eckels and Governors Hastings, of Pennsylvania, and Lowndes, of Maryland.

The leading addresses of the morning were made by Rev. George P. Wilson, D. D.. of Hagerstown, Md., and President Samuel A. Martin, of Wilson college, the latter speaking upon Presbyterianism and higher education for women.

This afternoon Rev. F. M. Woods, D. D., of Martinsburg, West Va., spoke upon "Presbyterianism for the Masses." The leading address of the afternoon was made by Judge John Stewart, of Chambersburg.

The old story of Prometheus is a parable. Prometheus was on terms of intimacy with the gods. From them he stole fire and gave it to men.

For this sin he was bound to the rocks of Mount Caucassus, and vultures were set upon him. They only ate his liver. This grew again as fast as it was pecked away. Are his sufferings to be imagined?

Take a modern interpretation of the parable. There is no cooking without fire. In cooking and eating the mischief lies. The stomach is overtasked, the bowels become clogged, they cannot dispose of the food that is given them. The impurities back up the liver. Then come the vultures—the torments of a diseased liver. Dr. Pierces Golden Discovery is more than equal to the vultures of dyspepsia and its kindred diseases. There is no more need of suffering from dyspepsia than there is hanging one's self. Sold by all medicine dealers the world over.

Books In the Libraries.

There are in all the libraries of the world, exclusive of private libraries and bookstore collections, 40,000,000 volumes. in 1845, exactly half a century ago the number of volumes in all the public libraries of the world was 20,000,000, so that in the last half century the number of books may be said to have doubled. This increase is in great measure due to the remarkable cheapening in the cost of bookmaking. Incidentally this cheapening has served to retard the growth of circulating libraries, for when a novel which cost $1.25 can now be purchased for 25 cents the incentive to subscribe to a circulating library is much reduced.

Everybody Invited.

An impression seems to prevail among many people that the business men's picnic at Hecla to-day is only intended for men in business or for those who have received invitations. This impression is erroneous. All business men, all patrons of business men, all men, women and children of whatsoever profession or occupation, whether they have received invitations or not, are invited to Hecla on that day. The picnic is intended for every reputable citizen and all such are invited.

New Industries Starting Up.

KENTON, W. VA., Aug. 5, 1897.—There is a very perceptible increase in the number of hands employed in the various establishments of this city. A new plate mill has just been completed and will add materially to the number of people employed and one of the old mills is being rebuilt. The Riverside Iron Works at Wheeling has just begun work upon a large addition to its plant which will increase the number of employees very greatly.

The Reformed Reunion.

A number of persons from this city attended the Reformed reunion at Island park near Sunbury Thursday. There were from four to five thousand people at the park.

The reunion was a grand success, notwithstanding the rain in the morning which prevented many from going, the people went in great crowds. Very interesting and able addresses were made by Rev. Dr, Stahr, President of F. and M. college, Rev. Dr. Keiffer, of Hagerstown, Prof. Knappenbeyer, of Allentown, and Rev. Dr. Bohner, of Waynesboro. It was a day of social enjoyment and many happy greetings. The only regret was that the day was not longer.

To the Delicate and Malarious.

The most incredulous are convinced of the virtues of Aunt Rachael's Malarial Peruvian Bark Bitters upon a trial of them. Their base is Speer's Port Wine, with herbs and roots so favorably known to the Medical Profession and the community at large as the besteure for Malaria. They are all that can be desired by the most feeble victims of Malaria. Physicians prescribe them.

All sensible people know that the only way to remove a wart is to rub it with a raw potato, which is afterwards to be buried by a cross eyed negro in the northwest corner of a graveyard at midnight in the dark of the moon. As the potatoes decays the wart will disappear. This wart salve put up in tin boxes, is a delusion and a snare.

The large edifice was well filled with the sorrowing friends and relatives of the departed girl. The floral offerings were profuse and beautiful and consisted of roses, carnations, pinks and other choice cut flowers.

The services were conducted by Dr. William Laurie, who spoke very touchingly of the many good traits of the dear departed, and throughout the services were solemn and affecting. The music rendered by the large choir present was very beautiful and pathetic. Miss Bessie Dorworth presided at the organ in the absence of the organist, W. T. Meyer.

At the close of the services in the church the funeral cortege proceeded to the Union cemetery, where interment was made.

The pall-bearers were F. H. Cota, Hary Achenbach, Mordecai Miller, James Stickler, E. Markle and Hickman Kellerman.

DEATH OF JOHN T. JOHNSTON.

An Old Resident of Bellefonte and a Prominent Politician.

John T. Johnston, an old resident of Bellefonte and a prominent Republican politician, passed away at his home on East Linn street, Wednesday afternoon about 4:00 o'clock He had been in ill health for a year or so, but still retained his position as Chief Clerk in the Internal Affairs Department at Harrisburg.

He was sitting in the lounge talking to his wife and a friend, when he suddenly became sick, and with the remark, "I cannot stand this long," he fell back on the lounge and passed away.

John T. Johnston was born at Pine Grove Mills, Centre county, Pa., October 20th, 1829. He was the youngest of five children born to John and Charlotte Johnston. About the year 1832 his father moved to Bellefonte, where he engaged in the mercantile business and which he continued up to the time of his death, October 13th, 1839. Thus, at ten years of age, he was left to fight the battle of life alone, and the greater part of the struggle has taken place in Bellefonte, he never having cast a vote in any other place. At the age of 15 he entered the office of the Bellefonte Whig, where he learned the printer's trade. In the spring of 1851 he became a partner with Mr. John K. Shoemaker in the publication of that paper.

On the 19th of February, 1852, he was married to Miss Mary McKinney, a most estimable lady, also a resident of Bellefonte, and although they have had to bear their share of sorrow their union has been a most happy one. Six children were born to them, four of whom are still living: Lydia Kelly, of New Brighton, Pa.; Finley E., Hastings, Mich.; George B., Beaver Falls, Pa.; Harry E. Altoona, Pa.

In the winter of 1855 Mr. Johnston was appointed to a clerkship in the State Department at Harrisburg, under the administration of Governor James Pollock. After serving several months he resigned and returned to Bellefonte, where he took sole charge of the Whig newspaper, which he continued to publish until the month of June, 1858. He was clerk to the Town Council of Bellefonte for a number of years and was president of the School Board two years. During 1859-60 he was clerk to the County Commissioners, and in the fall of 1860 was elected Prothonotary, the first and only Republican ever elected to that office in Centre county. During the session of 1866 her served as transcribing clerk in the Senate, at Harrisburg, and in 1867-68 was Chief Clerk in the Internal Revenue office of the then 18th district of Penna. In the spring of 1868 he was appointed postmaster of Bellefonte and served continuously until July 1, 1885—over 16 years. In May, 1887, he was appointed Railroad clerk in the Department of Internal Affairs at Harrisburg and entered upon the duties of that position June 1st of that year.

He was educated in the common schools and Academy in Bellefonte. He entered politics as a Whig, and was the last chairman that party ever had in this county. During the years 1854-55 he took an active part with the American or Know-Nothing party, and in 1856 expounded the cause of the new Republican party, advocating through the columns of this newspaper, the election of Freemont and Dayton, the first candidates of that party for President and Vice President. He was chosen Chairman of the Republican committee of Centre county eight times, and was always very active, zealous and consistent in the support of the principles of his party and its candidates, although he was never 'hunted with a brass band."

In all the different positions of honor and emolument held by Mr. Johnston, covering more than a third of a century, it can be truthfully stated that he performed his whole duty intelligently, honestly, faithfully and well. He could always be relied upon, was never weighed in the balance and found wanting.

The funeral took place Friday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock, from his residence on West Linn street. Long before the time for the services the house and the street in front of it was thronged with the friends of the deceased. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Laurie. The Presbyterian choir was present and sang very sweetly. Governor D. H. Hastings and wife and fourteen employes of the Internal Affairs Department at Harrisburg were in attendance.

The services throughout were solemn and affecting, and were under the direct charge of Bellefonte Lodge, No. 268, Free and Accepted Masons.

At the conclusion of the services at the house the funeral cortege proceeded to the Union cemetery, where, after the impressive Masonic rites were ended, the interment was made.

The pall-bearers were J. H. Sands, John Meese, H. Sechler, Wm. Shortlidge, John P. Harris and J. Fearon Mann.

LAID TO REST.

Sad but Impressive Services Over the Late Hugh Beaver.

The last sad rites have been said, and the last tribute of respect paid, and all that was mortal of the late Hugh McAllister Beaver has been consigned to the tomb. The solemn but affecting services were held in the Presbyterian church, of which deceased was a member, Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock. The large edifice was thronged with the loving friends of the deceased, all depicting in their faces the great sorrow which they felt.

The altar was one mass of beautiful flowers. Among the designs were "The Triangle," an emblem of the Y. M. C. A.; the letters "C. E," emblem of the Presbyterian Christian Endeavor Society; "Broken Column," from the Pennsylvania State College. There were many bouquets of cut flowers from private parties and Mrs. Murray Andrews contributed two large palm leaves and some choice flowers.

The services were opened with singing by the large choir present under the leadership of Prof. W. T. Meyer, who presided at the organ. The opening anthem was "Saved by Grace," a favorite song of the deceased, and the other selections were taken by special request from Sacred Songs No 1, which book Hugh Beaver had selected to use in his work in New York this fall and winter. One of the prettiest songs rendered was one from this book, entitled "Homeland," sung by a quartette composed of the following persons: Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Meyer, Miss Bessie Dorworth and Mr. Hard P. Harris.

The opening prayer was made by Dr. Charles Woods, of Philadelphia, after which Dr. William Laurie preached the funeral sermon. Many were moved to tears by the touching words of the kind pastor. The sermon was followed by a talk by S. M. Bard, State Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., under whom Hugh Beaver had been doing Christian work for the past two years. He spoke in high terms of the great good accomplished by this young man. The closing address was made by Dr. Charles Woods, who also paid a high tribute to the Christian character and zealous labors of the departed brother.

After an earnest closing prayer by Dr. Laurie, the audience was allowed to pass by the casket and view the remains, after which the casket was closed and the funeral cortege proceeded to Union cemetery where interment was made.

The pall-bearers were Robert Irvin, Harris Heylman, Evan Goodfellow, Edward Harris, Edmund Blanchard and J. Mac. Curtin, of Bellefonte; H. Walton Mitchell, of Huntingdon, and T. Foster Bailey, of Pittsburg.
